

Licking Valley Courier

Subscription, $1.50 a year

Devoted to the Advancement of the Better Things for Morgan County and West Liberty

Single Copy: 5 cents

VOLUME 26, NO. 52

WEST LIBERTY, MORGAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1936

WHOLE NUMBER 1346

JUL

30

1936

Personal

D. P. Lewis attended county court here Monday.

G. B. Cox of Flatwoods was in town Tuesday.

Mrs. T. H. Caskey, who has been seriously ill is improving.

D. M. Roland of Dingus was a visitor in town Tuesday of this week.

Morgan county Local Option election Tuesday, September 29, 1936.

Monday was County Court day. There was an unusually large crowd in town.

A. C. Bradley of Dingus was a business visitor to West Liberty Tuesday.

Born, July 23 to Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Bolin of Long Branch, a fine baby girl—Johan.

A. F. Garver of Lexington was a business visitor at the Courier office while in town Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wells of Payton were pleasant visitors at the Courier office while in town Monday.

Mrs. E. M. Williams of New Cummer is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Rufus Bolin of Long Branch.

Miss Dixie Caudill of Hazel Green was the week end guest of Miss Lucile Nickell and Miss Helen Jean Cox.

Mrs. J. B. Nickell gave a bridge party and kitchen shower Tuesday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tolliver.

Miss Lexia C. Childers, Wardell Walters, Ella K. Turner and Hobart Arnett spent an enjoyable evening in Salyersville, July 29.

Mrs. Clarence Price and Mrs. Drexel Vest of New Cummer and Bonny were breezy visitors at the Courier office while in town Monday.

Mrs. Arthur Watson of Caney was in a critical condition Thursday with appendicitis and was taken to the Lexington hospital. She is improving nicely.

Miss Zelma Spencer returned home Sunday from a six weeks vacation with friends and relatives of Knott and Floyd counties and reports a good time.

Mrs. G. I. Fannin and Miss Daisy Prater attended the funeral of Dial Prater at Grayson Monday. Mr. Prater was an uncle to Mrs. Fannin and Miss Prater's grandfather.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Perry and little son, James Randolph, of Paintsville visited Mrs. Perry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Stacy, Sunday. Mrs. Perry and son remained for the week.

Dr. W. J. Oakley of Bardstow brought his family to Malone to spend the week with Mrs. Oakley's mother, Mrs. Johnnie Wells. The Dr. called on his father, R. M. Oakley, while here.

WANTED—Farmers or farmers sons over 21 years of age with good car to travel in the country. Steady work. Write for particulars. G. C. HEBERLING CO. Dept 966, Bloomington, Ill.

Mrs. Roco Brong, Helen Jean Cox, Lucile Nickell and Dixie Caudill visited Mrs. Stanley Ryan at Salyersville on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Ryan is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom March at that place.

W. L. Carpenter and wife and son Kenneth Coleman, visited at Kellacy from Wednesday of last week till Monday of this week. Mr. Carpenter's grandfather, Joe L. Carpenter and uncle, Willie M. Peyton and also his cousin, Floyd Carpenter at Omer.

On Saturday morning Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Long were visited by brothers and sisters Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Long, Mr. and Mrs. Z. G. Trimble and John Long, all of Middletown, Ohio. After lunch the young folks visited relatives in Paintsville and then spent the night with the mother of the Longs in western Morgan county.

VETERANS FOR VINSON

West Liberty, Ky., July 28, 1936
To whom it may concern:

Fred M. Vinson was one of the few men in Congress that voted and worked to prevent the economy act by which many veterans of all wars lost their pensions and compensation. He has always fought the battles of the veterans and is still fighting them as he is a member of the powerful Ways and Means committee of Congress and in a position to assist in veterans legislation as well as all other helpful legislation for his district.

The three veterans organizations asked Fred M. Vinson to sponsor the bonus bill and it was the Vinson Bill that was enacted into law after two years hard fighting that brought approximately $200,000.00 to the World War veterans in Morgan county, so let every veteran show his appreciation by getting out the vote Vinson on Saturday, August 1, 1936, and we will nominate him by the largest majority that he has ever received. He deserves your vote and influence.

Respectfully submitted, Olen R. Motley, Clay Collins, Elijah W. Gevedon, Wade Wright, Kelly Harper, Lee Roy Vance, Veterans Committee for Morgan County.

The question raised by A. T. Kennard of Olive Hill as to what happened or not happen at the State Convention, a copy certified to by Keen Johnson, Secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee is on file at the Courier office which shows the proceedings of the Eighth Congressional District as endorsing Fred M. Vinson for renomination for Congress.

(Political Advertisement)

REGISTER SATURDAY

Protect your right to vote by attending the primary on Saturday of this week and signing a registration card.

We have come to regard our right to vote as a matter of course. The legislature of the state in an effort to preserve that right to qualified persons has passed a statewide voters registration law. Only legally qualified voters can be registered and only regularly registered voters can hereafter secure a ballot at any primary, special or regular election. A special election has been called to vote on the Local Option question in Morgan county. To vote in that election you must register on Saturday of this week.

JUDGE BRACHEY

Judge Brachey, who puts every drunken driver in jail for nine days and fines them $19, last week had persons before him who had been convicted of the same offense before. He gave them thirty days in jail and fined them $100.

There ought to be a Judge Brachey in every town in the United States. Drunken drivers are as great a menace as mad dogs. They do not think they are too drunk to drive a car but everybody who meets them on the road knows they are. This thing of driving a car while drinking must be stopped or else people will be forced to keep their automobiles in the garage.—Elizabethtown News.

OUR BIRTHDAY

With this week the Courier closes twenty-six years of service as a news agency for West Liberty and Morgan county. Established in 1910 by Gardner Cottle, the paper was a few years later transferred to Hovermale and Elam who conducted the paper until 1926 when it was sold to the present management. The paper has always been very zealous in supporting the interests of the town and county for which it is primarily printed, but we are finding a constantly increasing interest in our efforts by persons in other counties and states. To make the Courier increasingly useful is our sole aim and ambition.

ASK OPTION VOTE

A petition carrying several hundred names more than the number required by law was filed this week with the county court asking for an election on the question as to whether the county should ban the sale of all kinds of intoxicating liquors. The election, if called must be a special election. It cannot be held in connection with the primary or regular election.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Blair and family spent Sunday at Riffe Springs with Mr. Blair's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Blair.

SOME LOGAN HIGHLIGHTS

Swung the tide in Kentucky after the 1928 Democratic debacle and carried the state by a difference of a quarter of a million votes.

Supported President Roosevelt and the New Deal Policies, and has the support of the National Administration in his present campaign.

Secured the passage of many bills in the Senate and amendments to other important legislation, including the social acts of the administration.

Brought about recognition of Kentucky when federal funds were appropriated for the various relief agencies, therefore aiding relief and unemployment.

Is straightforward and honest; whose pledges for the future can be judged by his performance in the past.

Roosevelt would like to see him back in his Senate chair to insure Kentucky's cooperation with New Deal Legislation in Washington.

Can construe the Constitution, which is now on trial as never before. His great knowledge of this instrument makes the Junior Senator an invaluable member of the majority party at this particular time.

He gave two of his beloved brothers to the cause of the World War, and he still feels the sting of their loss, after eighteen years of mourning.

(Political Advertisement)

VINSON NOT INDORSED

R. T. KENNARD
Attorney at Law
Olive Hill, Ky.

Mr. W. C. Clay, Mt. Sterling, Ky.
Dear Sir:

I have your letter of July 23rd in reply to my letter of July 20th published in the Sentinel-Democrat and your reply thereto published in the Advocate on July 23rd, also an article which purports to be a copy of the alleged indorsement of Mr. Vinson, signed by Hon. Keen Johnson.

In further reply to your contention that the 8th District meeting of delegates at the 1936 State Convention held at Louisville indorsed Fred M. Vinson for Congress, I reiterate and reaffirm my previous statement that the 8th District meeting did not indorse Mr. Vinson for re-election, and I give as additional reference for the verification of my statement every delegate from the 8th Congressional District who attended the 8th District meeting.

But to the contrary, delegates from fourteen of the twenty counties of the 8th District met in rooms 816-18 of the Seelbach Hotel and voted unanimously to give Mr. Vinson opposition. A resolution to indorse Mr. Vinson was never presented at the 8th District meeting, and would not have been adopted had it been presented.

Referring to the paper which you inclose, which purports to be an indorsement of Mr. Vinson signed by Hon. Keen Johnson, Secretary of the State Central and Executive Committee, in my opinion Mr. Johnson was deceived and imposed upon by some Vinson supporter, who represented to him that said paper had been adopted by the 8th District meeting when in fact it had not been adopted or even presented. In brief, the paper, in my opinion, is a wilful forgery for which Mr. Johnson is not responsible.

I WILL FURTHER SAY FOR YOUR INFORMATION, that each of the Louisville papers carried the proceedings of the several Congressional District meetings, at the State Convention, and neither of them made any mention of the 8th District meeting having indorsed Mr. Vinson.

I trust that you will have this letter published in each paper that carried your letter.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) R. T. KENNARD

Chairman Resolutions Committee, 8th District Convention
(Political Advertisement)

Know Your Language

By C. L. Bushnell
School of English,
International Correspondence Schools

THE word "boyceot" has established a firm place for itself in the English Language, although it made its first appearance only a little more than fifty years ago. The word derives from a Captain Boyceot, a land agent in County Mayo, Ireland, whose difficulties with the Irish Land League in 1880 brought it into use. The word, in varying forms, is also found in the French, German, Russian and other European Languages.

What is wrong with this sentence? "I am going to do my hair like you do yours." The sentence should read—"I am going to do my hair as you do yours." One thing is like another. You do a thing as someone else does it.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Prayer meeting and song service at 7:30 every Thursday night.

Sunday school at 10 o'clock a.m. Church services immediately after Sunday school and also at 7:30 p.m. every Sunday.

Lord's Supper the first Sunday night in each month. Everybody is invited to attend these services. "Not forsaking the assembling of yourselves together." ROSCO BRONG, Pastor

SCHEDULE OF SERVICES

M. E. CHURCH SOUTH

First Sunday: West Liberty 11 a.m. Cannel City 7:00 p.m.

Second Sunday: Goodwin Chapel 11 a.m. Cannel City 2:30 p.m. West Liberty 7:30 p.m.

Third Sunday: West Liberty 11 a.m. Cannel City 6 p.m.

Fourth Sunday: Cannel City 11 a.m. Goodwin Chapel 2:30 p.m. West Liberty 7:30 p.m.

Young people's division, West Liberty, every Sunday at 6:45 p.m.

A cordial invitation is extended to you to attend these services.

REV. CLYDE BOGGS

LOGAN FOR SENATOR

To the Voters of Morgan County:

Six years ago the national administration and the state administration were in the hands of republicans. Strong effort was made by democratic leaders and they finally prevailed in getting Senator Logan to make the race for United States Senator. With all the machinery in the hands of the republicans, it was believed that it was extremely doubtful whether or not a democrat could be elected. Another man who is now a candidate for the office could not be prevailed upon to make the race. Finally Senator Logan said he would make the sacrifice and if necessary suffer defeat. He made such a vigorous campaign and became so popular because of his sincerity and earnest, zealous personality, that he carried the state by a good majority.

For six years Senator Logan has labored hard in the senate and has drafted more reports, at the instance of the President and his administration, than any senator has ever done from Kentucky. He has supported the President in every instance, with the exception that he did say he could not support him in his opposition to the soldier's bonus, because, putting it in his own language he said: "It is true that this money is not now legally due, but it is just that they should have it and why not do it now?" Acting upon this, while the senate was within a few votes of defeating the bonus, he added his strength and carried it over.

He made a hard fight for old age pensions in Congress and succeeded in getting a maximum allowance of $30.00. But Senator Beckham, Dan Talbott and the Kentucky legislature limited this amount to $15.00, just one-half of the amount Senator Logan helped to provide for.

There has not been a serious criticism of anything that Senator Logan has done while he has been in the senate. The President has indicated that he wanted him back in the senate. Senator A. O. Stanley quotes the President as saying: "I have been authoritatively informed that the President preferred that the present incumbent, Senator Logan, should have no opposition."

The fight between John Young Brown for himself and Governor Chandler, supporting Beckham, has resulted in such a bitter conflict that the election of either Brown or Beckham might result in endangering the democratic ticket this fall.

Nominate Senator Logan and we will have an easy and overwhelming victory for Roosevelt and Logan in November.

I sincerely trust that the democrats of Morgan county will rally to the support of M. M. Logan.

W. M. GARDNER
Logan Campaign Chairman
Morgan County, Kentucky
(Political Advertisement)

THE LADIES' AID SOCIETY

Cannel City, July 26. The Ladies Aid Society of the Cannel City Union Church met at the home of the vice-president, Mrs. W. T. Stamper. The meeting was opened by singing "What a Friend We have in Jesus." The devotional was given by Mrs. A. H. Anderson, 15th Psalm. The Lord's Prayer was led by Mrs. G. W. Leslie. The vice-president presided over the meeting. After the usual business meeting, the afternoon was spent in work on a quilt.

The hostess assisted by her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Anderson served delicious refreshments of cake and lemonade. Present at this enjoyable meeting were: Mrs. G. W. Leslie, Mrs. Calah Sebastian, Mrs. Press Sebastian, Mrs. J. W. Benton, Mrs. Lonnie Patrick; Mrs. A. H. Anderson of Combs and the hostess, Mrs. W. T. Stamper. A special was sung by Mrs. G. W. Leslie and D. P. Peyton.

JUNIOR PARTY

Miss Floris Cox, teacher of the Junior Girls of the Christian Sunday School, had a party for them Thursday night. Each member of the class invited one guest.

They had nice games and enjoyed themselves as only girls can. Miss Floris served flavorade and cookies.

$5 REWARD

For return of new Chevrolet wheel and tire. Tire 6-ply casing 5.50x17. Lost near head of Slate on Route 40. R. C. DAY, care of Caskey Chevrolet Sales, West Liberty, Ky.—Adv.

LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. Ada Cochran and Miss Anita Castleberry made a trip to Owensville yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Carter are building a home on Glen Avenue near Lee Bayes' residence.

Miss Nell Caskey spent Friday and Saturday in Hazard with her Cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Spurlock.

The M. E. Missionary Society gave Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keeton a utility shower Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cole of Waukeka, Oklahoma are here visiting Mr. Cole's brother, Henry, and family.

Wyck McKenzie, who was in the hospital for an appendix operation is able to be on duty again at the I. G. A.

Hoffman Wood of Mt. Sterling, the republican candidate for nomination for Congress, spoke at the court house yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fannin moved Friday from Prestonsburg street to Glen Avenue, where they have an apartment in Amos Day's residence.

The court house is beautifully finished inside and out. Work has begun on the concrete walks. We hope to soon be able to print a cut of this fine structure.

Mrs. J. D. Moore invited a number of the little girls in last evening to get acquainted with her little sister, Avonell Jones of Paintsville, who is visiting here.

Col. W. R. Nelson of the Millerburg Military Institute and Rev. J. B. Kendall of Lexington were guests of Mrs. J. R. Kendall and Miss Sarah Seitz, Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Virgil Swann and baby of Middletown, Ohio, are visiting with her mother, Mrs. Bob Easterling at Blairs Mills. They visited over the week end with relatives in Wrigley.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Blair and children and Mrs. W. O. Blair spent Sunday afternoon at Blaze with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Lewis. Mr. Lewis is not feeling as well as usual.

Rev. and Mrs. I. J. Scudder and little daughter, Laura Pauline, of Maysville were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Stacy Tuesday. They called on friends in Cannel City in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bishop and little daughter of Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Blankenship and two children of East Chicago, Ind., spent a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Lewis at Blaze, returning Tuesday.

Mrs. Joe Fugett, daughters, Misses Wilma and Janis and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Anel Fugett, of Illinois are visiting Mrs. Joe Fugett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Elam and Mrs. Anel Fugett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wells and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wilson and two daughters of Middletown, Ohio, are visiting relatives in the county. Friday they spent with Mrs. Wilson's brother, Ernest Lewis and another sister, Mrs. W. O. Blair of Riffe Springs, spent the day with them.

Miss Helen Jean Cox and Miss Lucile Nickell went to Murphy Fork yesterday to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Nickell, who are Miss Helen's uncle and aunt and Miss Lucile's grandparents. They will remain over Sunday and call on other relatives while there.

Mrs. J. L. Blair returned Sunday from a two week's visit in Berea with her sister, Mrs. Daniel Henry and with her son, William Allen, and her daughter, Miss Martha Carolyn. Mrs. Blair's youngest son, James, spent a week in Berea and a week in Ashland with his grandparents, Judge and Mrs. Cisco.

HERE FROM INDIANA

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rybolt and Mrs. Claude Crisp and daughter, Myrtle, of Greensburg, Ind., visited Mrs. Rybolt's and Mrs. Crisp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Hughs of Cottle, last week.

Synthetic Gentleman

By CHANNING POLLOCK

Copyright, Channing Pollock WNU Service

CHAPTER XII—Continued

Miss Hambidge was "in."
"Mummers?"
"Play acting?" Ridder snapped. "I observed that you'd feathered your nest. I was wrong. Why didn't you say so?"
"I did."
The old man was looking at Barry's check.
"Can you write?" he asked.
"I don't know."
"Harwood thinks you can. He just left here. He says you earned what we paid you. Well, you'd better go on earning it."
"You mean I'm hired?"
"Hired?" Ridder repeated. "You were hired two months ago. Who ever fired you?"
There didn't seem to be any answer to that.

"Mr. Ridder wants you to work with Jack," Mrs. Ridder remarked. "Keep an eye on him."
"You're going to take Jack?"
"We're taking him home tonight. And Peggy. We hope you'll come out sometimes."
"I want Jack to carry on," Ridder declared. "When I'm through."
He was back at his desk now, and he looked up, almost smiling.
"You said I was a tough bird," he told Barry. "I heard you. I don't apologize. The world needs tough birds. You don't win battles with pigeons. Somebody's got to do a little clear thinking. Somebody's got to know what he's about. We're a soft race. Coddled. Self-indulgent. We need hard going and discipline."
His voice was crisp and sure.

"What's the matter with this young generation? It's fathers had too much money. I was a tough bird because I knew the fight Jack had made, and I didn't help him. I'd tried that, hadn't I? The other way was my only chance to make a man of my son."
There was no lack of emotion in his tone now.

"And you. How did I know you weren't just a cheap swindler? By listening to a lot of warm-hearted generalities? How did I know you weren't a blackmailer—until I saw you were going to give yourself up without squealing?"
"Then you were play-acting?"
"Not on your life. I was watching you like a hawk, but there was a cop out there, and I thought you had a date with him, until I saw your face when I asked you why you sent that wireless to Mrs. Ridder."

Again, he almost smiled.
"There was a cop waiting behind that door, and a girl behind that one. A nice girl. I had to be sure I wasn't messing things up for her."

He glanced at his watch.
"Four o'clock. You people have got to get out of here. I can't spend the day being a sentimental idiot."
"You're neither," Mrs. Ridder said. "Neither what?"
"Neither sentimental nor an idiot. You're a tough bird, but I like 'em that way."

She was holding on to his arm when Barry closed the big door behind them. Barry thought she was crying.
"She is my mother, after all," Barry thought. "She's all the mother I never had."

He told Winslow most of it, late that same afternoon.
Peter sat at his desk, looking restless and tired, but happier than he had seemed in some time.

"Pat said she was going to propose to you," he smiled. "Meant it, too; we knew that. Women are funny. Snooted you while things were going right, didn't she?"
Barry laughed.

"I was coming back for her when I got out of jail."
"Your dope on the old man was all wrong," Winslow commented. "He has been cold and hungry. Tricked on a dock once. And as to being 'nuts about anybody,' can't you see that's why he went into reverse when the boy disappointed him?"

He opened the right top drawer of his desk, probing its inscrutable jumble for something to play with.
"You had a close call, though. Ridder knew what he owed you. People forgive what you do to them, but rarely what you do for them."

"You've done an awful lot for me, all right."
"Nonsense!"
The top drawer hadn't yielded anything promising, and Peter picked up his little red magnet.

"It's all ended well," he remarked; "even for Luis Morano. He cheated the chair, and that's what he wanted to do."
"I thought you were so sure of his innocence."

"His innocence of this crime, yes," Peter answered.
Then he rose and touched the magnet to his thermometer.

"When are you sailing?"
"Wednesday."

"Good luck," Barry said, extending his hand across the desk.
Peter turned to take it, frowning his own hand by trying to slip the magnet over the hook from which the thermometer hung.
The magnet promptly fell into the open desk drawer.
"Damn!" Peter exclaimed, probing again.
He retrieved it, at last, from somewhere near the bottom of that astounding accumulation of rubber bands, pen-wipers, and what not.

Clinging to the metal, held by its magnetic attraction, was another bit of metal.
As Peter dropped the magnet onto his desk, that other bit of metal detached itself, and fell almost at Barry's feet.

Barry picked it up, looked at it, looked again, and then looked at Peter. Peter was staring at him.
Barry took a notebook out of his pocket.

"A 66152," he said. "Yes, that's Kelly's latch-key."
Peter nodded.
"I must have thrown it here weeks ago, and forgotten it."

"I'd throw it somewhere else now," Barry advised. "Somewhere just a little bit safer. Well, good luck, again, and good-by."

He had reached the door when Peter said: "Wait a minute."
Barry waited.
"How long have you known?"
"That you killed Mike Kelly?" Barry asked. "Since last Thursday. I was on the train coming in from Southampton."

His voice was crisp and sure.
"What's the matter with this young generation? It's fathers had too much money. I was a tough bird because I knew the fight Jack had made, and I didn't help him. I'd tried that, hadn't I? The other way was my only chance to make a man of my son."

There was no lack of emotion in his tone now.
"And you. How did I know you weren't just a cheap swindler? By listening to a lot of warm-hearted generalities? How did I know you weren't a blackmailer—until I saw you were going to give yourself up without squealing?"

"Then you were play-acting?"
"Not on your life. I was watching you like a hawk, but there was a cop out there, and I thought you had a date with him, until I saw your face when I asked you why you sent that wireless to Mrs. Ridder."

Again, he almost smiled.
"There was a cop waiting behind that door, and a girl behind that one. A nice girl. I had to be sure I wasn't messing things up for her."

He glanced at his watch.
"Four o'clock. You people have got to get out of here. I can't spend the day being a sentimental idiot."

"You're neither," Mrs. Ridder said. "Neither what?"
"Neither sentimental nor an idiot. You're a tough bird, but I like 'em that way."

She was holding on to his arm when Barry closed the big door behind them. Barry thought she was crying.
"She is my mother, after all," Barry thought. "She's all the mother I never had."

He told Winslow most of it, late that same afternoon.
Peter sat at his desk, looking restless and tired, but happier than he had seemed in some time.

"Pat said she was going to propose to you," he smiled. "Meant it, too; we knew that. Women are funny. Snooted you while things were going right, didn't she?"
Barry laughed.

"I was coming back for her when I got out of jail."
"Your dope on the old man was all wrong," Winslow commented. "He has been cold and hungry. Tricked on a dock once. And as to being 'nuts about anybody,' can't you see that's why he went into reverse when the boy disappointed him?"

He opened the right top drawer of his desk, probing its inscrutable jumble for something to play with.
"You had a close call, though. Ridder knew what he owed you. People forgive what you do to them, but rarely what you do for them."

"You've done an awful lot for me, all right."
"Nonsense!"
The top drawer hadn't yielded anything promising, and Peter picked up his little red magnet.

"It's all ended well," he remarked; "even for Luis Morano. He cheated the chair, and that's what he wanted to do."
"I thought you were so sure of his innocence."

"His innocence of this crime, yes," Peter answered.
Then he rose and touched the magnet to his thermometer.

"When are you sailing?"
"Wednesday."

"Wednesday."

"Wednesday."

"Wednesday."

"Wednesday."

"Wednesday."

Hambidge. A paper every one seemed to want, and that had disappeared when the body was found.
"What had that paper to do with you?"

"If this were a detective story, and you read it, you'd find twenty answers to that question. Judge Hambidge said he couldn't tell the truth because of a woman. Pat said the woman was her dead mother. And, plainly, that had something to do with Morano."

He leaned forward across the desk. "I couldn't see any link between the two. And then I remembered that Pat's mother was your wife's sister. Pat told me her mother was brought up in a little town called Warrenton. That meant your wife came from Warrenton, too. And Morano had told me he came from Fauquier county. I went to my atlas. Warrenton's in Fauquier county. There used to be a military school there. Mrs. Winslow ran away with her first husband while he was a cadet in a military school."

Peter leaned forward, too. "And Morano—" he began, tensely. "I don't know whether Morano went to a military school or not."

"But George Selby did."
"Morano and George Selby were the same man, weren't they?"

It was after six o'clock now. The outside offices were deserted and silent.
But the noise of traffic drifted up from the street.

For almost a minute, that was the only sound in the room where these two men sat facing each other.
Then Peter said, "Yes, they were the same man."

"I was sure of it," Barry resumed. "The papers reported that Selby was drowned in Philadelphia. But the body they identified had been in the water two weeks. Fresh water. So that identification didn't amount to much. Violet Fane had told me Morano bought the house down town because he was 'married once,' and he and his wife lived there. The sob-story I dug out of the tabloids said Selby was 'blissfully happy' with his bride in a house he'd rented down town. Obviously, the same house. Sentimental? Yes, but Morano was a sentimental cuss. So sentimental that he might have died rather than have it discovered that your wife was really his wife."

Barry saw Peter wince, but went on. "Of course, he had another reason for resisting arrest—that hot spot with which Kelly threatened him. If Morano had been arrested, and fingerprinted, they'd've learned that he was George Selby, and wanted for murder. Morano made certain of that. The 2:12 train he caught at the Port station went to Philadelphia. That's where he was all the next day—checking up on the finger-prints taken when Selby was sent to the State penitentiary, and, perhaps, trying, through underground channels, to have them removed from the files."

"I had the motive for the murder now."
"Kelly knew Morano was Selby, and so that your wife was technically a bigamist. That was the threat he held over Morano, and Judge Hambidge. The threat that persuaded the Judge to write a 'crooked decision.' The paper Kelly had in his pocket was a marriage certificate, or something of the sort, he'd found somewhere."

"In an old trunk," Peter said. "In the house he bought at 24 Jefferson street."

Barry nodded.
"I doped that out, too. Both Morano and Hambidge had plenty of reason to kill Kelly."

"But neither had as much reason as you had."
"If you knew of the existence of that paper."

"And you did, didn't you? That's where Morano's telephone message came in. That's why he called you up from the Coconut Bar. To tell you he'd seen the paper, and Kelly had it."

"Right," Winslow said, simply. "My inquiry was narrowing down to you and Morano. But how did either of you get in to Kelly? And then I remembered that, the day I first saw Mrs. Kelly, she came into that house and left her key in the door. I did the same thing this week. Anybody might. Especially a drunken man. That would explain why the key wasn't on Kelly's body. It would explain how our third caller entered while Kelly was talking to Judge Hambidge."

"Right," Winslow repeated.
(TO BE CONTINUED)

Salt Mine Clean
Totally unlike a coal mine, a salt mine is a perfect example of cleanliness and orderliness, observes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Although the mine is in full operation, neither workmen nor machines are to be seen, for salt mining consists of nothing more than a series of water pipes which continually spray the sides of the mine with water under high pressure. This water, bringing with it the salt from the walls of the mine, falls to the bottom of the shaft. It is accumulated in reservoirs and then pressed overhead where the salt crystals are retained in large pans. About 120,000,000 pounds of salt are extracted every year from the Sala burg mine in Austria, one of the most famous in the world.

Cider Like Champagne
Just as wine is the drink of France, so cider is the drink of Normandy. This northern part of France does not have summers warm enough for grapes, but the gnarled apple trees which dot its fertile countryside give it a nectar just as sweet, and one that, prepared carefully, will sparkle and bubble like champagne.

Normandy's greatest attraction is Mont-Saint-Michel, which rises like a great pyramid just off the coast. Originally built as a fortification, it was later made an abbey of the Benedictine fathers.

A Comfortable Culotte

Pattern No. 1922-B

The perfect antidote for blistering, hot days is this cool, cleverly-designed culotte for bicycling, riding, beach, housework; for tearing through the woods, or running down the street to the grocer's.

Designed for plenty of action and comfort, it fits snugly at the waist by adjustable laced ribbons at each side, with the same feature repeated in the blouse front.

A becoming boyish collar and handy pocket create charming effects. The pattern is so easy to follow, you can cut two at once using printed cotton, gingham, broadcloth, seersucker or linen at an expense even lower than your budget provides.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1922-B is available for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 14 required.

quires 4½ yards of 23 inch material. Send 15 cents in coins. Send for the Summer Pattern Book containing 100 Barbara Bell well-planned, easy-to-make patterns. Exclusive fashions for children, young women, and matrons. Send 15 cents for your copy.

Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 337 W. Adams St., Chicago, Ill.
© Bell Syndicate—WNU Service

All Around the House

Grease the measuring cup before measuring sirup or molasses and the ingredients will not stick to the sides of the cup and there will be no waste.

Always sweep rugs and carpets the way of the grain. Brushing against the grain, roughens the surface and it tends to brush the dust in instead of out.

Sugar sprinkled over the tops of cookies or sponge cakes before putting them into the oven forms a sweet crust and makes a richer cookie.

Glass stoppers may be easily removed from bottles if a towel is dipped into boiling water and wrapped around the neck of bottle for a few minutes.

Partly cook cereal in a double boiler the night before using and leave it on the back of the stove, being sure to cover well with water. It will be well cooked in the morning.

Wash lettuce and place in refrigerator to get very cold before using in making salads. Crisp lettuce makes the best salad.

© Associated Newspapers—WNU Service

CLABBER GIRL

Baking Powder

Uncle Phil Says:

They Come to Earth
When a hero marries an angel, it is two very ordinary people who set up housekeeping at the end of the honeymoon.

You are always hearing about the qualifications of a model husband, but never about the qualifications of a model wife. Reason enough. All wives are metel.

Fault-Finding Is Easy

It requires keen vision to detect a virtue, but most of us can find fault with our eyes shut. Give us a day once in a blue moon when we don't have to make good.

Every man would like to see how he looks in a beard, but he is so timid about it, he will never find out.

We've Much to Watch

When we are alone we have our thoughts to watch; in families our temper; in society our tongues.

Sometimes the only way to combat a gloom spreader is with laughter.

Good Light Every Night with a Coleman

LANTERN

Just the light you need for every outdoor use. The Coleman lantern is the best. It gives you a bright, steady light. It is easy to use. It is safe. It is reliable. It is the best. It is the only one you need.

SEE YOUR LOCAL DEALER—or write THE COLEMAN LAMP AND STOVE CO., Dept. WNU, Wichita, Kans.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Chicago, Ill.; Philadelphia, Pa.

JOE E. BROWN TO THE RESCUE!

HELP!

LOOK, JOE—A RUNAWAY HORSE!

OH, OH—WE'VE GOT TO STOP 'EM—EVERYBODY!

THEY'RE HEADING FOR THE RAILROAD TRACKS!

TRAIN'S COMING!

HURRY, DICK, HOP ON THE BOARD—GRAB THE REINS AS WE PULL ALONGSIDE.

JUST IN TIME!

YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS SAYED MY LIFE, MR. BROWN, COME TO MY HOUSE... THIS CALLS FOR A CELEBRATION

YOU BET WE'LL COME UP BUT NEVER MIND THE THANKS—OUR CLUB'S ALWAYS READY TO DO A GOOD TURN.

SAV THIS IS A PARTY! BUT HOW DO YOU KNOW WE WERE CRAZY ABOUT GRAPE-NUTS FLAKES?

WHY EVERYBODY KNOWS GRAPE-NUTS FLAKES IS THE OFFICIAL CEREAL OF THE JOE E. BROWN CLUB BESIDES I THINK THEY'RE SIMPLY SWEET MYSELF!

JOE E. BROWN ASKS BOYS AND GIRLS TO JOIN CLUB

Famous Comedian Offers 36 FREE Prizes!

Find out about these dandy prizes. Just send one Grape-Nuts Flakes box-top—and you'll get the membership pin shown here and the Club Manual, illustrating 36 different and valuable prizes. This manual tells you how to get them—free! How to work up to Sergeant, Lieutenant and to one of Joe's Captains.

So start eating Grape-Nuts Flakes right away and save the box-tops. These crisp, crunchy flakes are so good—you'll "go" for 'em in a big way. Every spoonful is a real taste-thrill! And served with whole milk or cream and fruit, Grape-Nuts Flakes pack more varied nourishment than many a hearty meal! (Offer expires Dec. 31, 1936. Good in U.S.A. only.) A Post Cereal—made by General Foods.

Club Membership Pin—Here's the membership pin you get. Gold finish with blue letter, actual size shown. FREE for 1 Grape-Nuts Flakes package-top.
Photo of Joe E. Brown—Joe greets you with a big smile in this facsimile autographed photograph. Free for 1 Grape-Nuts Flakes package-top.
Joe E. Brown, c/o GRAPE-NUTS FLAKES, WNU-5-14, Little Creek, Mich.
I enclose... Grape-Nuts Flakes package-top. Please send me free the items checked below. (Put correct postage on your letter.)
☐ Membership Pin and Club Manual. (Send 1 package-top.)
☐ Photo of Joe E. Brown. (Send 1 package-top.)
Name _____
Street _____
City _____ State _____

SEE JOE E. BROWN'S LATEST MOTION PICTURE—"EARTHWORM TRACTOR"—A WARNER BROTHERS PICTURE!

HOW ARE YOU TODAY?

DR. JAMES W. BARTON
Talks About

Spacing Meal Times
IT IS hard to understand how the idea ever started, and still persists, that an individual doesn't weigh any more after than before eating food. Yet the increase in weight after eating is exactly the amount of the weight of the food. Putting it into the stomach is just the same to the scales as putting it on the scales themselves.

Boxers, jockeys, and others who must keep their weight at a certain figure know exactly what they must eat to attain a certain weight at a certain definite hour. They know also that the amount of liquids must also be measured the same as foods, as water or any other liquid increases weight.

Thus in the case of boxers, where the weight is taken at two o'clock in the afternoon and the bout takes place at 9 o'clock or later, their first thought is for "a big drink of water." This is because they have been "drying out" for weeks. After this large drink of water, and eating a big steak a little later, at the hour of the bout they will be some pounds above the weight taken at two o'clock and will feel much stronger. Boxers are usually in good health and therefore the effects of food and liquids will be the same as in any other healthy individuals.

When food is eaten, the body immediately begins to use it, which really means burning it up to manufacture heat and energy. And just as anything that burns gives off wastes—smoke and other substances—so the body gives off wastes and sends them to the lungs, to the kidneys, to the skin, and to the lower bowel from which organs they are sent out of the body.

Body Weight Adjusted
The urine and the feces remain in the bladder and bowel for hours at a time, whereas the breath and the perspiration are being lost all the time into the surrounding air.

An interesting experiment is recorded in the American Journal of Physiology. Dr. C. I. Howard recorded the hourly loss of weight on two successive days for ten individuals following the eating of (a) a light lunch made up of a glass of milk weighing about seven ounces and a ham sandwich weighing 11 ounces, and (b) a heavy lunch consisting of three glasses of milk, three ham sandwiches—21 and 33 ounces respectively. In other words the light meal weighed a little over one pound and the heavy meal a little over three pounds.

After the light lunch there was a progressive increase in the rate at which the weight was reduced for two hours, then the rate of losing weight became less, so that by the end of five hours, the rate of weight loss was the same as before the food was eaten. Digestion was completed.

After eating the heavy meal there was an increased rate of weight loss for three hours. Five hours after the food was eaten the rate of loss was still nearly 5 per cent above the rate at which the weight is lost when there is no food being digested.

The greatest increase in the rate at which weight was lost after eating the small meal was 10 per cent, and after eating the heavy meal 23 per cent above the normal or average rate with digestion not going on.

Thus the body adjusts itself to the amount of food eaten, increasing the rate of weight loss in proportion to the amount of food eaten.

The above experiment shows that when a heavy meal is eaten although the rate of weight loss is greatly increased, nevertheless five hours after a heavy meal is eaten the rate of weight loss is still 5 per cent above the basal rate, that is the rate of decrease when no food is being digested.

Understanding the Patient
A knowledge of all the sciences included in medicine should naturally be a part of the equipment of the physician but a knowledge of human nature, the workings of the patient's mind, his reactions to everyday life is just as important if the patient—the individual—is to be treated properly or completely.

It has been well said that every patient when he first visits the physician is really a mental patient; he is complaining of some symptoms and whether these symptoms are due to any real underlying cause or only exist in his imagination, they must be carefully considered and treated.

In other words the physician must know men and women and never forget that he is treating men and women and not just some group of symptoms of which these men and women are complaining.

The first consideration of the doctor is not the symptoms or disease but the patient himself. Disease means not being at ease, and the fact that the patient is not at ease may be as much the fault of the patient as of the organism or other condition causing the symptoms.

©-WNU Service.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

An Immortal Oration

BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF.—The future has a rotten trick of musing up the judgments of the present. What a pity it is that we can't wear our hind-sights in front.

When I read where some ponderous performing pachyderm of the literary elephant quadrille says, "This story will live forever," I get to thinking about a time-yellowed copy of a metropolitan newspaper I saw once, a paper that was printed on November 20, 1883.

It devoted great gobs of praise and nine solid columns very solid—to the eloquence of the Hon. Edward Everett of Massachusetts, who, on the day before, after months of preparation had, on a battlefield down in Pennsylvania, spoken two hours and turned loose enough oratory to fill about nine gas balloons. But of the subsequent and incidental remarks of another man, an awkward, shy man from Illinois, who had spoken just two minutes, it said, "The President was also heard briefly. The applause was formal and scattering."

Irvin S. Cobb

But they will be some pounds above the weight taken at two o'clock and will feel much stronger. Boxers are usually in good health and therefore the effects of food and liquids will be the same as in any other healthy individuals.

When food is eaten, the body immediately begins to use it, which really means burning it up to manufacture heat and energy. And just as anything that burns gives off wastes—smoke and other substances—so the body gives off wastes and sends them to the lungs, to the kidneys, to the skin, and to the lower bowel from which organs they are sent out of the body.

Body Weight Adjusted
The urine and the feces remain in the bladder and bowel for hours at a time, whereas the breath and the perspiration are being lost all the time into the surrounding air.

An interesting experiment is recorded in the American Journal of Physiology. Dr. C. I. Howard recorded the hourly loss of weight on two successive days for ten individuals following the eating of (a) a light lunch made up of a glass of milk weighing about seven ounces and a ham sandwich weighing 11 ounces, and (b) a heavy lunch consisting of three glasses of milk, three ham sandwiches—21 and 33 ounces respectively. In other words the light meal weighed a little over one pound and the heavy meal a little over three pounds.

After the light lunch there was a progressive increase in the rate at which the weight was reduced for two hours, then the rate of losing weight became less, so that by the end of five hours, the rate of weight loss was the same as before the food was eaten. Digestion was completed.

After eating the heavy meal there was an increased rate of weight loss for three hours. Five hours after the food was eaten the rate of loss was still nearly 5 per cent above the rate at which the weight is lost when there is no food being digested.

The greatest increase in the rate at which weight was lost after eating the small meal was 10 per cent, and after eating the heavy meal 23 per cent above the normal or average rate with digestion not going on.

Thus the body adjusts itself to the amount of food eaten, increasing the rate of weight loss in proportion to the amount of food eaten.

The above experiment shows that when a heavy meal is eaten although the rate of weight loss is greatly increased, nevertheless five hours after a heavy meal is eaten the rate of weight loss is still 5 per cent above the basal rate, that is the rate of decrease when no food is being digested.

Understanding the Patient
A knowledge of all the sciences included in medicine should naturally be a part of the equipment of the physician but a knowledge of human nature, the workings of the patient's mind, his reactions to everyday life is just as important if the patient—the individual—is to be treated properly or completely.

It has been well said that every patient when he first visits the physician is really a mental patient; he is complaining of some symptoms and whether these symptoms are due to any real underlying cause or only exist in his imagination, they must be carefully considered and treated.

In other words the physician must know men and women and never forget that he is treating men and women and not just some group of symptoms of which these men and women are complaining.

The first consideration of the doctor is not the symptoms or disease but the patient himself. Disease means not being at ease, and the fact that the patient is not at ease may be as much the fault of the patient as of the organism or other condition causing the symptoms.

©-WNU Service.

A Few Little Smiles

GETTING SOMEWHERE

The two tramps were stretched out on the green grass. Above them was the warm sun, beside them was a babbling brook. It was a quiet, restful, peaceful scene. The first tramp sat up.

"Boy," mused the first tramp contentedly, "right now I wouldn't change places with a guy who owns a million bucks!"

"How about five million?" asked his companion.

"Not even for five million," drowsed the first tramp.

"Well," persisted his pal, "how about ten million bucks?"

"That's different," he admitted. "Now you're talking real dough!"

—Mark Hellinger in the New York American.

SOME HELP

"This boy you graduated is a good advertisement for you, professor."

"How so?"

"He acts like he knows everything in the world."

The Start
A surgeon, an architect and a politician were arguing as to whose profession was the oldest. Said the surgeon, "I've been made from Adam's rib, and that surely was a surgical operation."

"Maybe," said the architect, "but prior to that, order was created out of chaos, and that was an architectural job."

"But," interrupted the politician, "somebody created the chaos first!"

Please Move On
The meek little man approached the policeman on the street corner.

"Excuse me, constable," he said, "but I've been waiting for my wife for over half an hour. Would you be kind enough to order me to move on?"—London Tit-Bits Magazine.

Nothing to Stop It?
Mother—Everything I say to you goes in one ear and out the other. Betty (innocently)—Is that why I have two ears, Mummy?

A Human Zero
"How's that widow you married turning out as a husband?" the former widow was asked.

"A pain in the neck," she sighed, "the poor fish was so cowed by his first wife there even isn't any pleasure fussing with him."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

ALL SETTLED

"Have you decided where you're going on your vacation this year?"

"Yep! I'm going to whatever place my wife selects."

While Rome Burned
Nero had just completed his historic solo.

"There's no use of trying to uplift the public," he said. "Think of a crowd that would rather run to look at a fire than hear me play the violin!"

Mental Attitude
"I wouldn't marry the best man on earth," said the irate young woman.

"And if you did," said Miss Cayenne, "you'd never believe it."

Needed More Encouragement
"I'm afraid to propose to her."

"But doesn't she give you any encouragement?"

"Well, she gives me a whisky and soda every time I call, but hang it one isn't enough."—Stray Stories Magazine.

Hunger Strike
Mother—What is it, dear?

New Bride—Jack has gone on a hunger strike. He won't eat a single thing I cook.—Pahfiner Magazine.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

© Bell Syndicate—WNU Service

There are few village smithy shops today under the chestnut trees. One reason

A Village is that there aren't Blacksmith any more chestnut trees. Another is that the motor car is rapidly driving horses and vehicles drawn by horses out of business.

I used to think that in fifty years or more practically all the village smithies would disappear. But lately I have learned better.

Here in a little coast town in Maine is a village blacksmith who has more work than he can do, though he has probably not shod a horse or repaired an agricultural implement in twenty years or more.

For a time after the "devil wagons" began crowding horses and horse drawn vehicles off the road, he had little to do.

Then one day he saw some ornamental grill work that had been sent to his town to be used as an adornment on a new building.

He examined it carefully, then went home and thought a little. "There is no reason in the world why I cannot do that kind of work," he said to himself. "I will do it, by Gosh."

Today the children still "love to see his flaming forge and hear the bellows blow."

Over the anvil on which he used to fashion horse shoes he makes beautiful things of steel and iron. Visitors seeing him at work have come in to inquire if his handiwork was on sale.

He assured them that it certainly was, and that more of the same kind of work would be in evidence as soon as there was a demand for it.

It is known today all over the state, and in many other states, whose residents have bought his work.

And if he had the advertising gift that some people have he would have a wide reputation.

But not, I am sorry to say, a great business.

For his work is artistry, and cannot be done in quantity over a single anvil.

It cannot be said of him that he is another Benvenuto Cellini. He works in iron, not in silver and gold.

But he is a master craftsman, when he never might have become had he not been forced by changing conditions to become something besides the village blacksmith.

I saw him at work the other morning on a pair of beautiful andirons.

I asked him what they cost. "A lot of time," he said.

"Yes, but how much money?" "Oh, not so much. But the fellow I'm making them for isn't rich so I wouldn't like to charge him too much."

And there was proof that he really had the soul of an artist.

The Canny Poet
This poem at Longfellow, as a business man, is permitted to say by Caroline Ticknor in "Glimpses of Authors."

In November, 1855, soon after "Hiawatha" had been published and was selling madly all over the country, a Boston newspaper dared to criticize it adversely. Soon criticisms concerning the source of "Hiawatha" and accusations of imitation were made by newspapers from coast to coast.

Longfellow's publisher, James T. Fields, was greatly annoyed. One day, bursting into the poet's study, he exclaimed:

"These atrocious libels must be stopped!"

Longfellow said quietly, "By the way, Fields, how is 'Hiawatha' selling?"

"Wonderfully! None of your books has ever had such a sale."

"Then," said the poet, calmly, "I think we had better let those people go on advertising it."

Our Sorrows
Our sorrows are like thunder clouds, which seem black in the distance, but grow lighter as they approach.—Nichter.

Unique Strike

Recently in Damascus, Syria, the police displaced the guild of thieves and robbers, which, in retaliation, called a strike in the hope that the subsequent inactivity of the police force would result in numerous dismissals. For many weeks the burglars and bandits of the city refused to steal a single thing.—Collier's Weekly.

NO MORE ANTS
Just sprinkle Peterman's Ant Food along window sills, doors, any place where ants come and go. Peterman's kills them—red ants, black ants, others. Quick, Safe, Guaranteed effective 24 hours a day. Get Peterman's Ant Food now, 25c, 50c and 60c at your drugstore.

PETERMAN'S ANT FOOD

Prison Ivy Sunburn Chafing Itching

Resinol

Torment soothed—Healing aided by

Classified Department

PHOTOGRAPHY
Roll Developed—11¢ and smaller. 16¢ and larger. Advance from your roll 25¢. Wisconsin PhotoShop, West Salem, Wis.

MISCELLANEOUS
"Your Country" Southernmost Map a Worth while addition to your home. Only 10¢. Write for your copy. Southernmost Map Co., 1000 Broadway, New York, N.Y.

HOTELS
Hotel Dalton, 1212 S. Walnut Ave., Chicago. Home Phone 1000. Excellent Rates. Free Breakfast. Write for rates and book for two weeks rates from $1.

WNU—E 31—38

BOYS AND GIRLS! . . . JOIN CAPT. FRANK'S AIR HAWKS! FREE BIKES! AND MANY OTHER FREE PRIZES!

ONLY Capt. Frank's Air Hawks can get one of these FREE Bikes . . . and the many other wonderful free prizes! Just send coupon with one Post's 40% Bran Flakes box-top to Capt. Frank Hawks. He will then enroll you in his Air Hawks . . . send you your official Wing-Badge. He'll tell you how to enter the FREE Bike contest . . . and send you a catalog of all the other valuable Free Prizes.

Equal chance for boys and girls to win.

SO DELICIOUSLY DIFFERENT
How you'll love these crunchy, golden flakes . . . with the deliciously different nut-like flavor! But that is not all! Eaten daily, they help keep you fit! For they help supply the bulk food many diets lack. And adequate bulk is necessary for keeping fit. So start eating Post's 40% Bran Flakes—the original bran flakes—right away. A Post Cereal—made by General Foods.

OFFICIAL WING-BADGE. Two-tone silver finish. Capt. Frank's head in center. 1 box-top.

CAPT. FRANK'S SIGNED PHOTO. Available for framing. Free for 1 box-top.

WNU 7-27-38
Post's 40% Bran Flakes, Battle Creek, Mich. 1 box-top. Please send me the items checked below:
() Official Wing-Badge (send 1 package-top)
() Capt. Frank's Photo (send 1 package-top) (Put correct postage on letter)

Name _____ Age _____
Street _____
City _____ State _____
(Offer good only in U.S.A. and expires Dec. 31, 1940)

The Courier

Entered as second class matter April 7, 1910, at the postoffice at West Liberty, Ky., under act of congress.

Subscription Price $1.50 a Year
Always in Advance

Advertising rate, 35c a column inch each insertion. Legal advertising, 50c a column inch each insertion.
Classified advertisements, 1c a word. Readers, 10c a line.

Late obituaries, cards of thanks, resolutions of respect, etc., 5c a line.

Published every Thursday by COURIER PUBLISHING COMPANY
F. S. BRONG, Editor
ROSCO BRONG, Business Manager

FARMERS' COLUMN

PRICES TO HOLD

A study of the livestock situation leads E. A. Johnson of the department of markets at the University of Kentucky, College of Agriculture, to believe that no big drop in cattle prices will result from the rush of drought stock to market. In fact, he thinks top cattle prices may go higher in the next several months.

Mr. Johnson points out that the run heavy, long-fed cattle may be expected to cease by the end of August. Slaughter of this type during the first half of this year was the largest for any corresponding six months period since 1918.

Until the drought became effective, feed prices were low compared to cattle prices. This stimulated cattle feeding, and in Kentucky more cattle were to be seen on grass and in feed lots than in years. The strong demand for stockers and feeders, together with the heavy slaughter, caused the spread in prices between these types and finished cattle to decline from over $6 in January to $1.50 in June. The indications now are that better grades will command steady to higher prices, with slightly lower prices in prospect for medium to lower grades and feeders and stockers.

Hog breeding also has been increasing, the spring pig crop being 29 percent over a year ago, with another increase expected next fall. The increase in Kentucky, however, was only 9 percent last spring and is estimated at 8 percent for the fall of 1936.

Hog prices had their usual summer upturn which ordinarily reaches a high point in late August and early September. Present prices are not expected to go much higher, altho it is not known what effect the drought may have on hog feeding.

LAND IMPROVEMENT PAYMENT

The University of Kentucky, College of Agriculture points out that farmers may earn Class II or soil-building payments in the agricultural conservation program by applying limestone or superphosphate or sowing alfalfa.

Ground limestone or other forms of agricultural lime may be used when preparing land for seeding soil-conserving crops, or on pastures, or on meadows after cutting the hay crop. Payments will be at the rate of 70 cents per 1,000 pounds per acre, $1.40 where 2,000 pounds is applied per acre, $2.10 for 3,000 pounds and $2.80 for 4,000 pounds.

Where superphosphate is used, payments will be at the rate of 50 cents per 100 pounds of 16 percent superphosphate or its equivalent, with a maximum of 500 pounds per acre, $2.50.

The amount of Class II payment which may be earned by applying limestone or superphosphate or carrying out other soil-building practices is fixed by the amount of the soil-building allowance, which is determined for a farm by multiplying by $1 the number of acres devoted to soil-conserving crops in 1936. However, the minimum allowance for any farm is $10.

Small farmers may find it advantageous to qualify for soil-building payments by sowing alfalfa, in that they may receive $10 for seeding one acre to this forage crop.

PAYMENTS FOR SEEDING GRASS

Rates of Class II or soil-building payments for seeding grasses under the 1936 agricultural adjustment program in Kentucky are announced by the state college of agriculture as 75 cents to $2 an acre, depending upon the kind of grass seeded.

Rates for seeding these crops between Jan. 1 and Oct. 31, 1936, with or without a nurse crop, are:

Bluegrass, $2 an acre.

Orchard grass; or, permanent pasture mixtures of grasses or of grasses and legumes, at least 40 percent bluegrass, $1.50 an acre.

YOUR GOVERNMENT

DR. JOHN W. MANNING
DIRECTOR
BUREAU OF GOVERNMENT RESEARCH
UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

NO. 21
THE COUNTY JUDGE

The county judge is often thought of as the head of the county government in so far as there is a head. He is elected by the voters of the county to serve for four years. His duties consist of acting as the chairman of the fiscal court, as well as presiding over the county court and the quarterly court. In these courts he has civil jurisdiction to the extent of two hundred dollars, and may hear appeals from the justices' courts, as well as have criminal jurisdiction equal to that of the justices of the peace.

A recent survey of the county judge shows that the majority of judges in Kentucky spend most of their time in the quarterly courts, to the neglect somewhat of the county court. This survey covered eighty-nine of the 120 counties in this state, and of this number 62.9% spent more than half of their time in the work of the quarterly court, leaving 23.6% spending most of their time in the county court, the remainder dividing their time equally between the two, or failing to report.

In this same survey numerous interesting facts are brought out relative to the education of county judges. Unlike judges of the circuit court and the court of appeals, the county judge is not required to be a lawyer and rarely is he versed in the law. A recent survey including 33 county judges brought to light the fact that only 13 of them have law degrees, 35 of them attended colleges and 22 received only eighth grade education. This is an interesting fact in view of the fact that the administration of justice locally falls to the county judge in a number of important cases. Undoubtedly it would be expected that a judge who administers the law should know the law; yet we in Kentucky have confused the administration of justice with the administration of fiscal affairs and apparently have assumed that any one who is a representative of the people of the county and to whom the people can look for the administration of the county's fiscal activities, can at the same time be depended upon to administer justice under a complicated code of laws. In Kentucky we have been indeed fortunate to secure the services of men who have done so little damage in the administration of law as have our county judges, considering the fact that we impose upon them no qualifications requiring them to know the law.

It is reasonable that the fiscal affairs of the county be considered separate and apart from the judicial affairs of the state. The county judge as a judge should be tied up with the state court system and required to know something of the law and the administration of justice. On the other hand if he is to be the chairman of the county board or fiscal court he should not be burdened with judicial matters. Kentuckians should make up their minds whether or not the county judge is to be a judge or whether he is to be the chief executive of the county.

Permanent pasture mixtures of grasses or of grasses and legumes, at least 40 percent orchard grass, $1.25 an acre.

Redtop; or, permanent pasture mixtures of grasses or of grasses and legumes, at least 40 percent redtop, 75 cents an acre.

BOB JONES' COMMENTS

Christianity is Christ and Christ is Christianity. There are by-products of Christianity which people are mistaking for Christianity. We hear a great deal of talk about social security and doing something for our fellow man. A great many people interpret this to mean Christianity. It is not. No man is a Christian until he accepts Jesus Christ personally. A man may accept some truth that Jesus taught and still be a sinner. The difference between a Christian and a non-Christian is simply this: The Christian has Christ and the non-Christian has not. Politicians sometimes "cash in" on the by-products of Christianity and yet reject the Lord Jesus Christ. All the real valuable things we have, such as social service and child welfare work are nothing more or less than the shadow of the personality of Jesus Christ. Men reach for this shadow, but a shadow is intangible. You can not hold it. Men can not keep the shadow of Jesus when they reject His personality.

All human reform with the person of Jesus Christ left out will be temporary. Man in his unregenerated state is naturally selfish. He will use even the by-products of Christianity for himself. Most of the appeals that politicians make are appeals to the selfish impulse. Sometimes they appeal to hatred and set one class against another class. It is a great responsibility to be a leader of men. It is wicked to make appeals to the selfish emotions of men or to the emotions of hate, prejudice, or pride. Jesus made no such appeal. He said, "If thine enemy hunger, feed him." Return good for evil. Do good to those who despitefully use you. That reminds me, Jesus never told the masses to do anything, except to come to Him and find relief from their burdens, their sorrows, or their sins. He warned the masses of the inevitable consequences of evil doing. Jesus set up standards of living for His own people. It is useless to set up moral standards of living for unregenerated men. Jesus told His disciples, "I am the Light of the world. Ye are the salt of the earth." He told His own what He expected of them. He taught that unregenerated men were not His friends. He made it plain that they were His enemies. He taught that no man can be neutral. Every man is on one side or the other. According to His teaching, every man was a friend or a foe to Jesus Christ. He taught that His friends were the ones who did what He said do. Things are awfully "messed up" in this modern world. Millions of people are being led astray. We are building false hopes. Of course, we live in the world. We want to make the best of everything we can. We appreciate the restraining influence of the presence of Christians and the restraining influence of the Bible and the Gospel in the world, but let us not be led astray in our thinking. Unregenerated human nature can never be held in subjection by mere ethical teaching. It is selfish. It is sinful. It will break out beyond bounds. It must be held in subjection by armies and navies and the policeman's club. Self preservation makes the unregenerated man accept an army, a navy, and a police force. It is not goodness that makes men accept these things.

C. C. C. CAMP FOR MORGAN

At the instance of Morgan county citizens, I contacted Senator M. M. Logan the first of the week with reference to the location of a C. C. C. Camp in Morgan county and have just received from him the following telegram.

WESTERN UNION
LOUISVILLE, KY., 7-28-36
W. M. GARDNER
WEST LIBERTY
KENTUCKY

I HAVE BEEN MORE ACTIVE IN FAVOR OF CCC PROJECT THAN ANY OTHER MEMBER OF THE SENATE. I CAN ASSURE YOU THAT I WILL DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO SECURE THE LOCATION OF SUCH A CAMP IN MORGAN COUNTY.

(SIGNED) M. M. LOGAN
If we can get this camp, and I think we can, it will mean many extra dollars for us as well as more good roads for the county.

W. M. GARDNER
Logan Campaign Chairman for Morgan County.

CAMP MEETING AT WOODSBEND

The camp meeting held annually at the Tabernacle on Lower Grassy, near Woodsbend will commence August 7.

The camp meeting will be held by the Church of God whose general business headquarters are at Anderson, Ind., and who publish the religious periodical known as the Gospel Trumpet. The meeting will be personally directed by J. B. Williams, a minister of the Church of God.

They have secured the service of John Chappel, well known minister, song director, soloist and pianist. Rev. Chappel will have charge of the music program and will assist in the preaching. They expect the help of other singers and ministers.

The meeting will be made interesting by the varied song program and preaching.

The plans are to provide water on the grounds and serve refreshments at reasonable prices. The entire facilities of the community are being used to provide a pleasant and spiritual gathering.

Long Dead Forests Revealed

Some of Asia's barren sand dunes show roots of long-dead forests, and traces of human habitation revealing desolation wrought in part at least, by erosion.

HOW

TO TEST SILK TO FIND IF IT IS WEIGHTED GOODS.—Most homemakers know that weighted silk does not wear as well as the pure dye silk, says a writer in Board's Dairyman, but there are many who cannot tell whether or not the silk they buy is weighted. Here are three simple tests to detect weighting:

Ask for a sample of the silk, and then take it home or to some secluded part of the store and put a match to it. If it crumples during the burning and is almost entirely consumed, you may be sure it is not weighted. If the silk is weighted it will burn with a glow and become brittle, but it will hold its shape almost entirely unchanged.

Another test for weighting in silk materials is to hold the material to the light. If pinholes can be detected in it, the chances are that the silk is weighted.

A third test is to crush the material in the hand, also rub a finger nail diagonally across it. If it crushes and wrinkles, or if threads loosen or spread when the finger nail is drawn across it, the silk is not likely to give satisfactory wear.

How Oxen Are Trained to Render Service on Farm

The process of yoking oxen and hitching them to a wagon is one of the most interesting performances on a farm, notes a writer in the Montreal Herald. The "off" ox works on the off side, or far side from the driver. He usually is the larger of the two and the more intelligent. The near (pronounced n-i-g-h) ox is nearest to the driver who walks to the left. Old plows turned the furrow to the right so the driver could walk on hard ground. In this way the awkwardness and ignorance of the near ox is played against the docility and superior intelligence of the fox.

In yoking the two together the yoke is first placed on the neck of the off ox and the near ox is invited to come under. This expression is so apt that a great many years ago it became a classic in the hands of able writers to suggest submission or slavery as "coming under the yoke." Coming under the yoke, however, for the ox in the days of abundant feeding, is no hardship. The oxen are large and powerful and the work they have to do is just about sufficient to enjoy their alfalfa hay and feed of oats or corn.

How to Dry Clean Dog, Cat

Cornmeal is an excellent substitute for water in cleaning the cat or dog during the cooler months. Unlike water, it does not turn the coats of white pets yellow. And also, unlike water, it does not leave pets susceptible to cold and pneumonia from incomplete drying. Rub the meal well into the hair and skin and brush it out with a stiff brush. The brushing will also bring plenty of life to the coat. Fuller's earth is often used for this same purpose.

How to Be Popular

The secret of popularity is to make everybody you meet feel that you are especially interested in him. If you really feel kindly toward others, if you sincerely wish to please, you will have no difficulty in doing so. But if you are cold, indifferent, retiring, selfish; if you are all wrapped up in yourself and think only of what may advance your own interests or increase your own comfort, you never can become popular.

How Explosives Are in Three Classes

Explosives may be put into three classes: High explosives, used for shells and torpedoes and for blasting; propellants, which explode more slowly and are used to send the shell or bullet on its journey; and detonants, which explode on a relatively slight impulse and are used to initiate the explosion in the main body of the charge.

How to Remove Steel Wool

As a material for smoothing down wooden surfaces, steel wool is very useful. However, in cabinet work, particles of the steel tend to lodge in crevices and corners and are difficult to remove with a wiping cloth. If an ordinary horseshoe magnet is moved along such places, it will attract the steel bits and clean them out.

How to Hang Paintings

A good painting, or any particularly lovely picture, should never be hung close to other pictures. Wall space should be given to it in order to enjoy its full beauty. The eye is very inclusive and should not be distracted by small and inconsequential pictures when there is something artistic to admire.

How to Clean Hardwood

Varnished hardwood floors in good condition may be cleaned and polished thus: rub with a flannel wet in turpentine—then rub well with a wooden cloth wet in boiled linseed oil. Finally, the floors should be polished with a chamolis.

How to Make Varnish

To make varnish quantities of natural or synthetic resins are put into a kettle with an oil, such as linseed oil. The mixture is heated, cooled and a volatile thinner added.

How to Mend an Umbrella

An easy way to mend a small hole in an umbrella is to place a piece of black adhesive tape over the hole on the inside.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

As I am closing out and quitting business in West Liberty, everyone who owes me on store account come in and settle at once. After I leave, all accounts will be turned over to an attorney for collection.

W. B. REED

WEST LIBERTY - KENTUCKY

DAY AND NIGHT SERVICE AT

WILLIAMS MOTOR CO.

Dealer in

NEW AND USED CARS

Phone 27 West Liberty, Ky.

Each Person Uses 300 Trees
From the wood in his cradle to the wood in his coffin, the average individual consumption is equivalent to at least 300 trees.

Texas Farm Operated Since 1540
A seven-acre farm near Ysleta, Texas, has been operated continuously since 1540.

EARL GODWIN

One Man in a Million

FRED S. BENGE, of Norman, Okla., is one man in a million. He found that out recently when, visiting the Texas Centennial Central Exposition at Dallas, he was pounced upon by a group of guides, greeted by the mayor of Dallas and officials of the fair, hailed by the Centennial Ranger Band, and taken for a jolting ride through the Grand Plaza.

Nonplused at first by the unexpected attention, Mr. Bengé soon learned that he was the Centennial's millionth visitor. The photo shows the National Cash Register building in the form of a huge cash register which registered 1,000,000 as Mr. Bengé passed into the grounds. In the inset is Mr. Bengé and Miss Mabel Rooks, captain of the Texas Rangerettes, who escorted him about the grounds.

Gunlock Ranch
By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

COPYRIGHT BY FRANK H. SPEARMAN W.N.U. SERVICE

Here is a crashing Western story that is different, based on the conflict raging in the heart of a girl who found her father was a hated thief. And his mortal enemy was the man she loved! What would you do in that situation?

Discover the Answer by Reading This Truly Unusual Novel As it Appears Serially in This Newspaper

MORGAN COUNTY SCHOOL PAGE

(Under Auspices of Ova O. Haney, County Supt.)

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT

The schools are moving forward. The helping teachers and supervisor has visited 84 different schools in 8 days and made 123 visits, this means that some of the schools have been visited more than once. There are only 9 schools which have not been visited. They will be this week. These first visits are to get acquainted with the needs of the various schools and make an inventory of their equipment.

The reports of the helping teachers are filed and studied with a view of improvement. The first thing of course is the physical needs such as water, desks, boards, books and etc. Of course the county cannot meet all these needs at once, but if they can not there are many things which the districts themselves can do and enjoy doing.

The N. Y. A. boys under the direction of Hubert Ratliff will make a great many repairs such as painting roofs, stopping the leaks and fixing steps and windows. The county has bought 50 gal. of roofing paint and they have all ready begun on the Index and Upper Lick Fork schools. They are repairing the roofs and painting them. Others will be painted just as rapidly as they can get to them.

The well at Lacy Creek had been filled and about a dozen of the men in the district had worked all day trying to get it cleaned out and could not. A drill was secured and the well fixed. A new well was drilled at War Creek. Mr. Elmer Elam gave lumber for a house and Mr. Ross who lives just across the creek gave post and the district has built a house. They have a fine well and say they will not stand for any one to destroy it. Parents all over the county should take a vital part in seeing that the wells are taken care of because it is their children who need the water to drink.

Teachers who have more books than are needed should return them to the book store at the first opportunity so they can be shifted to other districts which need them. Orders are out for 7th grade books and it is hoped they will be in the hands of the dealers at once.

PRIZE FOR ESSAY

Lucky fishing outfit, $10 value, will be awarded by Mr. Geo. W. Owsley, West Liberty, Ky., to the boy or girl in the common schools of Morgan county writing the best essay on the subject, "Why Should Wild Life Be Preserved in Morgan County?"

This essay will be judged on the following points: 1. Contents 2. Language and punctuation 3. Neatness and general appearance. Three impartial judges will read the manuscripts and Mr. Owsley will make this beautiful present to the winner. The prize is now on display in the office of the county superintendent of schools.

Wild Life Conservation is one of the most vital problems before America. This is a subject that the schools should take a lively interest in.

For further information inquire of the supervisor, helping teachers or county superintendent.

The schools appreciate this interest manifested by Mr. Owsley.

GRASSY LICK SCHOOL NEWS

Our school seems to be progressing very nicely. With an untiring effort on the part of our teachers, Mr. Edward Gevedon and Mr. Rexford Byrd and the backing of the patrons of this district it has been possible to get the well cleaned and repaired. We hope to have the cooperation of the patrons and friends so that the well might be kept in good condition.

A parent-teacher association was organized today, Friday, 24. Officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Victor Gevedon, President; Mr. Rexford Byrd, secretary-treasurer. This is something that has never been done at Grassy Lick before. We, as members of the parent-teacher association, are urging this organization onward. We believe that it will be of more benefit to the school than any other organization that could have been organized.

We want to thank the school supervisors, Mr. Be. E. Whitt, Mrs. Catherine Byrd and Supt. and Mrs. Ova O. Haney for their hearty cooperation and visit in helping to organize our parent-teacher association. We hope they will come back to our next meeting and help us to make this organization a successful one.

P. T. A.

The Courier chases the blues.

Supervisory District No. 1

I have visited the following schools during the past two weeks: Stacy Fork, Malone, Caney, Adele, Holliday, Vance Fork, Wheelrim, Linden Fork, Sq. Nickell, Bethel Chapel, Centerville, Sycamore Grove, White Oak, War Creek, Spaw Creek, Lacy Creek, Rock House, Trace Fork, Jones Creek and Williams. It was very encouraging to find the spirit of friendliness, cooperation and hard work among all the teachers and pupils. A finer school spirit could not have been shown for the beginning of a school year than each teacher has displayed so far. I feel quite sure that with the continuation of cooperation of the patrons, pupils and teachers, this will be one of the most progressive and most successful school years that Morgan county has ever had.

The number of pupils enrolled in zone one was 894, which goes to show that the patrons are interested in school work and that the boys and girls are keeping the attendance high.

NELL BURTON, Helping Teacher

Supervisor District No. 2

I have taken an inventory and found the conditions very favorable. Teachers surely do have a cooperative spirit. They are willing workers and have shown they are doing their part. I am making every effort to help these teachers carry out their plans.

Several organizations have been organized in my district, such as parent-teachers associations, literary societies, debating clubs, etc. Much community spirit has been shown in regard to the school. The parents are becoming more interested in their schools. They see the need of the cooperation of the parents, teachers, and pupils.

I have made a survey of the following schools: Grassy Lick, Chapel, Mize, Consolation, Caskey Fork, Hallock, Murphy Fork, Maytown, Flat Rock, Hollow Poplar, Index, Salem, Fielding, Wells Hill, Redwine, Lower Lick, Upper Lick Fork, Mordica, Licking River, Liberty Road and Big Lick.

The total enrollment in the schools in my district is 750.

CATHERINE H. BYRD, Helping Teacher

Supervisor District No. 3

Since the opening of the rural schools, I have visited the following: Pekin, Carter, Bonny, Flat Gap, Goad Ridge, White's Branch, Tom's Branch, Payton, Carpenter, Bear, Wallow and Flat Woods. I found the majority of the pupils enrolled and teachers beginning a good year's work.

The teachers are beginning early to start school projects and thru the aid of the N. Y. A. boys some are nearing completion. At Goad Ridge, N. Y. A. boys are building a library from some discarded lumber. This is an example of what can be done with this aid.

Much community interest was shown thruout the zone. During the year we hope to organize a number of parent-teacher associations thereby bringing the home and the school closer together.

The total enrollment of the school visited is 400.

EDITH WARD, Helping Teacher

Supervisor District No. 4

I have visited the following schools since the teachers conference: Lenox, Laurel Fork, Jephtha, Fairview, Hutchinson, Straight Creek, Lick Branch, Banner, Williams Creek, White Oak Branch, Peddler Gap, Coffee Creek, Lost Creek, Pendleton, Upper Sand Lick, Lower Sand Lick, Relief, Cindas Creek, Docks Creek and Smith Creek.

The chief aim of the first visit was to make a survey of the equipment and to get acquainted with the teachers. All the teachers were very enthusiastic about their work. Lack of books was the greatest difficulty the schools had. The teachers are trying hard to substitute practical material. It is hoped that the books will soon be available.

The teachers are progressive and are cooperative. I met many of the patrons and they are interested in the schools. There was a total of 840 children enrolled in the schools I visited.

Our next objective is to make definite plans for our part in the school fair and other activities.

Let us strive to bring our schools to the top by achieving as many standards as possible for the Morgan county elementary schools.

LENA McCLURE, Helping Teacher

Recalls War Time

The following letter was found by Miss Florence Cox, daughter of M. B. Cox, in some old papers. It is very interesting and indicates a most warm friendship between Mr. Cox and Major Wm. Myndier, Major Myndier was the grandfather of Bernard E. Whitt who now has the letter.

Camp near cross roads, Mercer county, Va., June 11, 1862

Mr. M. B. Cox, Esq.,

This leaves me and the boys all well and I trust it may find you and family well. We are now camped on the head of East River, one mile from the cross roads and 9 miles from Princeton, the county seat of Mercer county.

Perhaps you have heard of the battle of Princeton fought the 11th and 17th of May last. Well, when we learned the Yankees were approaching our county we moved camp at Joffersonville in Taswell county. When the news reached us that they were moving toward us, we pulled up our tents and moved immediately in the direction of the enemy. On the morning of the 16th we were 18 miles from Princeton. We started in that direction in full speed. About three o'clock in the day our pickets were fired on by the Yankee scouts. At that time we were ordered to double quick. We pressed them for some three miles. At which place the enemy made a stand. Our regiment was placed in the center and right on the road. Col. Trigg, 54 Va. was thrown on the right. Col. Moore, 29 Va. was thrown on the left. Cal Dunn and the cavalry were left to support the artillery in the rear. The fight was opened in this way by the Kentucky regiment and to their praise they drove the Yankees before them some one and a half miles without even a shot from Col. Trigg or Col. Moore's men. We killed a great many and wounded and took prisoners many more of them. The Yankees fled and took to the woods and the fight ended for the present day. We then went to the town a distance of two miles from this point. The next day two regiments of Yankees were sent from East River to reinforce Cox at Princeton, to make a second attack on us, but Col. Wharton with his regiment met the Yankees one mile before they joined Cox's regiment. And I do tell you he gave them a complete drubbing. Completely routing them. I was on the battle ground the same evening. It was fought in a lane and I do tell you as a truth the dead men had to be rolled out of the road like rotten chunks to let ambulances pass to gather up the wounded. This was the most horrible sight I ever saw I do believe. There were found and buried in the two fights 117 Yankees and some 200 wounded and left on the field, all of which was taken to the hospital. How many of them died since I do not know. It is reported that several were found dead in the woods since we left.

Our loss was four killed and ten or eleven wounded. Two Kentuckians and two Virginians killed and two Kentuckians wounded. Capt. S. H. Elliott was mortally wounded whilst carrying his boys to victory. He lived three days and died of the wound. I do not know the others Kentuckians' names. He belonged to the Kentucky Cavalry. All the boys belonging to my company behaved themselves well and distinguished themselves as Kentuckians should do in all cases for I believe they are as brave a set of boys as ever faced a foe. Always ready to go when a battle is pending as any other time and less complaint. How long we will stay at this place I do not know nor do I know what point we will go to next. I am told that a great deal of excitement prevails in Wolfe and Morgan at this time among home guards. I would not wonder at this since Thomas Ward and W. L. Hurt have been taken from them with many others, but as to that I know but little, neither do I care what they do or say. For one, I never thought of combining myself into bands of robbers as I think all such men are who roam thru the country disturbing civil citizens' women and children all for no other purpose than to steal and rob. But this is a small matter with me, for as God liveth and I am spared, if my property is molested, the blood of some one will have to atone for it. Tho I trust no such thing will ever happen to our land.

Milt, give my compliments to all of my friends. For my enemies, if any I have in Morgan, I ask no favors of any. But those who wish me well I do want to be remembered to. I expect to be at home just as soon as I am honorably discharged and not before unless the whole army should come to Kentucky before that time.

Yours fraternally,
Wm. Myndier

SCHOOL NEWS

School opened Wednesday, July 15, 1936, with Miss Gladys Short as teacher.

We have twenty-three enrolled in school and altho we are not very large we are united together, therefore we know we shall have a good school year.

We are proud of our new text books and we wish to thank Mr. Haney, the county Supt., and our helping teachers for them.

We were very much discouraged the first three days of school because we had no water and couldn't get any from the private homes because they didn't have water for their own use. Monday morning our hopes were raised when men came to clean out the well. Tuesday morning found us with plenty of water and now we can really work.

The fifth grade has been writing stories about Columbus and our teacher has promised us that she will try to have the best story printed in the paper.

ZONE MEETING

Friday, August 7, at 10:00 a.m. all teachers in zone 4 will meet at the Hutchinson school for conference. Demonstration classes in reading will be taught. Round table discussion of local problems. Address by Supt. Haney and Pelfrey.

Representatives from Morehead State Teachers College. All teachers expected to attend.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rosco Brong on Monday night. The pastor had charge of the opening devotions. Present were: Mrs. J. C. Nickell, Mrs. C. S. Wells, Mrs. Jesse Adams, Mrs. Ansel Fugitt, Mrs. F. S. Brong, and Misses Mary Jane Cox, Carrie and Eunice Adams and Icie Davis. The hostess served homemade candy after the meeting.

Advertisers must satisfy to succeed.

TO ALL TEACHERS

Dear Teacher:
Our County Supervisor and Helping Teachers have been bringing pleasing reports concerning the progress of the schools to the office of the County Superintendent. It is with regret that the duties of this office precludes me from contacting you more often. I hope to be in the field within the next few days to converse with you concerning our aims and objectives for this school year. I realize fully that many of you are working under handicaps relative to housing conditions. We will build and repair just as far as our money will go. Within the next two or three months we hope to meet the emergency seating needs in the county with the operation of the planing mill at Cannel City.

This severe drought has caused a county-wide water problem, not only in the schools but in the homes. We do not have the money available to fight this drought. We advise that you work out the water problem the best you can. We urge that you keep the well locked, also the school building, and exercise the highest degree of care in the protection of all school property. We insist that you have any party or parties summoned before the next grand jury who has any knowledge or information that would lead to the indictment and conviction of any one who breaks into the school building at any time without authoritative permission. The school building should be regarded as one of the most precious buildings in the community and should be protected by the wide awake, alert, citizens of your community. The board of education can not buy windows for reckless characters to break out so they can be replaced. The taxpayer's money should not be used to clean out wells so they can be filled up again so they can be cleaned out again. The responsibility of the school property is one the teacher and patrons of each community. Any trespasser on school property should be persecuted to the highest degree.

Please refer to the school directory concerning the County Fair and the activities that you will participate in. We hope that your school will participate in all the scholastic and athletic affairs. In addition to the trophies and cash awards shown in the Directory, there will be several additional $10.00 trophies for the winners and runners-up of these contests. We will notify you later concerning detailed information.

We have just received information from the State Department of Education that in about four or five weeks we will receive a supplementary order of free textbooks for the grades. The State Department of Education cut down on our original requisition for they feared they would not have enough money to buy books over the state. Let us hope that every boy and girl will have a complete set of textbooks this year.

Very sincerely,
OVA O. HANEY
Morgan County Schools

A SCHOOL OPPORTUNITY

A few boys and girls, who do not have money sufficient to meet all of their expenses may attend Senior High School or Junior College, take a Seminary or Commercial course and pay a large portion of their expenses in canned goods, garden or field crops or in doing some work while in school. Jars in which to can the fruit or vegetables will be furnished any pupil who is interested. For full information write J. W. Lusby, President or T. M. Burgess, Dean, Christian Normal Institute, Grayson, Kentucky.

NOTICE—COAL BIDS

The Morgan county board of education will let coal contracts to the lowest and best bidder in the various sub-districts. The board of education specifies that said coal bids must be received not later than August 10, 10:00 a.m. and said bids must be sealed and addressed to Ova O. Haney, superintendent Morgan county schools and marked on the envelope "coal bid" and that said coal must be delivered before October 1 and if bidder defaults the board will consider said default a material breach of contract. Before said bidder receives pay he must obtain the approval of the teacher of said school as to quantity and quality of coal delivered.

Morgan Co. board of Educ.
Ova O. Haney, Supt.

Slow in Building

The famous Gothic Cathedral of Burgos, Spain, was more than 300 years in the building.

Gas

By ALFRED WELCH
© McClure, Newhall & Co., Inc.
WNU Service

MORE than one of Curt Braswell's friends have probably wondered what it was that turned him from a dashing lady killer into a perfectly good husband. How it came about is kind of funny.

I was kind of surprised the first time she went out with Curt. I'd never been able to persuade her to go on a date. We both worked at the Baltimore hotel dining room. Nancy was hostess and I wretched plates.

I can't see any harm myself in letting a good looking customer date you. But Nancy was different.

"What say to a little party, kid?" I'd suggest. "Handsome. Harem of the Koonolze Cutlery is in town with a pal."

She refused till I got sort of impatient. She wasn't a prude but she'd sooner go home and read or to a movie alone.

Curt Braswell dived like a lead of bricks the minute he saw her. He kept after her for a date till he got it. Curt was tall, blond and handsome, and he had an air. Nancy was little and slim with curly black hair and blue eyes. They made a swell looking couple, but—

Far as I could see Curt was all right. But he was what they called a drummer when I was a kid. Nowadays they're sales engineers or sales representatives, but that don't keep them from being worse than sailors for having a girl in every town. I tried to make Nancy see it.

"You should talk," she laughs. "Nancy in love was like a kind of unfolding. She was standing in front of the mirror one morning, slim and cute, fixing her hair and singing like a lark. "Somebody leave you money, kid?" I asked pretending to be dumb.

She gives a little giggling laugh. "Better than that! He'll be here to-night!" Her voice had a singing note and her eyes were shining. But they weren't at all crooked that night when she went off duty and Curt hadn't shown up.

Did you ever watch a flower die? Two weeks passed without Nancy hearing from him. She didn't say much. I didn't either. It was what I had been expecting. You wouldn't have known Nancy was the same girl. All the light was gone out of her.

It happened on a Saturday morning. The day Curt use to punch town. The cover off the newspaper we'd discolored as a radio and it was 2:15 before I found we were out of eggs. Nancy was still sleeping. There were dark circles under her eyes and even asleep she looked like two little girls who'd been told there wasn't a Santa Claus.

"Damn Curt Braswell!" I thought. And slammed the door.

I got the eggs at the corner store and who do I run into as I come out but the devil himself!

"Hi, Handsome!" said Curt. "Hello yourself," I said shortly. "Where you been?"

"At hard labor!" he grins. "The company's transferred me to another territory. Going to miss me? I was going around to say good-by to Nancy." "Yeah," I said bitterly. "You boys are best at saying good-by. Aren't there enough girls like me who don't take you clowns seriously, without picking on Nancy's kind?"

"What do you mean?" he asks surprised.

"Come along," I said. "and see—if you ain't too dumb."

I smelled the gas before I opened the door. It was thick as fog in the room and on the bed was Nancy, white and still.

We got her into Mrs. Sewell's next door. In the course of time an ambulance clanged up with a pulmotor and pretty soon Nancy stopped being sick and smiled at me.

I said, "Curt's outside," and that quick the light came back into her face. I went out in the hall. He was walking up and down twisting his hands.

"How is she?" he asked hoarsely. I told him Nancy was all right. "I been an idiot, Jennie!" he burst out. "I was going away. I wanted to be free. I never dreamed Nancy cared so much. And I didn't realize how much I loved her till I saw her lying there—do you suppose she'll forgive me?"

"How do I know, god?" I demanded.

"Why don't you ask her?" "Course I know what had happened. The punk gas we'd been getting would hardly burn. When I slammed the door the light went out. Curt thought Nancy'd done it for his sake.

War History

A sum of $100,000 is being spent by Australia on compiling a history of her part in the Great War. Several volumes of the work have already been published and two more are now ready for issue. They chronicle fighting on French and Flanders battlefields and activities in Australia during the war period. The two final volumes will probably be issued next year. The task will then have taken about 17 years instead of the five originally contemplated.

Current Events IN REVIEW

by Edward W. Pickard

Bloody Civil War Rages in Spain

CIVIL war, desperate and bloody, broke out in Spain, and though the government in Madrid declared it was in control of the situation, such news as got through the censorship indicated that the struggle was by no means ended. On one side were the Fascists and royalists led by Gen. Francisco Franco; on the other were the loyal troops and the workers, Communists and Socialists. The rebels started the game in Spanish Morocco and the Canaries and were soon in control there. Then Franco, who is only forty-three years old but a dynamic character, crossed over to Algeciras, followed by the Foreign Legion and a lot of Moors, Moroccans and black African troops. After a sharp battle at La Linea, close to Gibraltar, these contingents began a march northward toward Seville and Cadiz. There was severe fighting in San Sebastian, where the American embassy is located in summer, and in other border towns. Malaga was reported to be in flames.

Commanders of the rebels asserted their aim was to "save the republic," to keep order and to destroy the Marxists. In Barcelona their attack was directed especially against Luis Companys, president of the Catalan parliament, who was said to be besieged in his office.

Jose Maria Gil Robles, leader of the Catholic C. E. D. A. (Confederation of Autonomous Right Parties) fled to Biarritz, France. An aviator who escaped the rebels in Morocco declared Gil Robles had indicated the revolt.

Premier Santiago Casares Quiroga resigned in favor of Diego Martinez-Barrio, speaker of parliament, but the latter held the office only a few hours. Then Jose Giral, former minister of marine, formed a cabinet with General Pozas, who was the support of both the powerful Civil Guard and Republican elements of the army, as minister of war.

The rebels sent word to the government that unless it capitulated they would bomb Madrid from planes.

Olympic Torch Started to Berlin Games

IN OLYMPIA, Greece, scene of the first Olympic games, a torch was lighted by the rays of the sun and a Greek runner seized it and started it on a 12-day relay to the sports field in Berlin where the Olympic flame is to be lighted on August 1. Five thousand distinguished persons were selected to carry the torch, these including King Boris of Bulgaria, King Peter of Yugoslavia, and a long list of princes, statesmen and sportsmen. On the last leg it was to be borne by S. Loukas of Greece, winner of the marathon in the games of 1908. A hundred thousand Hitler youths will accompany Loukas in a triumphal parade to the stadium.

Five thousand torches to carry the flame were donated by the Krupp works, so each of the bearers will retain one as a souvenir.

Hot and Dry Spell Broken by Rains and Cool Winds

RELIEF for the drought-stricken regions in the Middle West came with rains in many sections and cooling winds that sent the temperature down toward normal. However, it was too late to save the crops in many states, and prices of foodstuffs continued to advance. The farmers began to receive aid from the government in the form of cash, and no one could deny that they needed this help.

Loss of life throughout the United States from the unprecedented heat wave exceeded 3,550, an all-time high.

Agronomists in Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois and Ohio expressed apprehension over the outlook for the corn crop unless general rains should develop rapidly.

Arriving at Bismarck, N. D., to help co-ordinate drought relief enterprises, Rexford G. Tugwell, settlement administrator, was informed that approximately 90,000 farm families in the state were among the needy. A conference of state and federal officials in Bismarck developed a three-fold plan for the relief of dwellers in the desolated areas of the Dakotas, western Minnesota, eastern Montana and Wyoming. These included:

Immediate advancement of money to needy families, repayable out of WPA earnings; granting of funds to farmers desiring to keep small livestock herds for the purchase of feed and subsistence to be repaid by work on WPA projects; loans and grants to owners of large scale cattle enterprises to cover the cost of shipping animals to other states for feeding.

Nazi Decrees in Danzig Crush Opposition

UNLESS the protests of Poland are effective, all opposition to Nazi power in the Free City of Danzig is due to be crushed. Dr. Arthur Karl Gresser, president of the Danzig senate, which is controlled by Nazis, has issued administrative decrees ordering:

1. Dissolution of any organization whose members, with knowledge of its executive board, spreads news "endangering the state interest."
2. Prohibition of review by the courts of police measures of a political nature, including those aimed at the right of assembly, the press, and free speech.
3. Prohibition of Jewish ritual slaughtering for food purposes.
4. Imposition of three month protective custody on persons declared to be "endangering the public peace."

Thus the city's constitution is virtually set aside, and the Poles especially, having extensive economic interests there, are indignant.

Doings of Townsends in Their Convention

AN ALLIANCE between Dr. Francis E. Townsend, Father Charles E. Coughlin and Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith in the interests of a third party was announced at the Townsendite convention in Cleveland, attended by 12,000 followers of the California doctor who advocates pensions of $200 per month for every person over sixty.

In an address before the convention, Father Coughlin bitterly denounced the present administration and President Roosevelt and called upon the delegates to follow Dr. Townsend in endorsing the candidacy of William Lemke for the presidency on the Union ticket.

Lemke himself appeared before the convention before it adjourned and made a speech in which he pledged himself to "stand four-square behind the old age pension movement" and denounced the present administration as "national lunacy." The delegates applauded the first statement, but otherwise were rather apathetic toward the Union party leader. Doctor Townsend made no plea for him but merely urged his followers to concentrate on the election of senators and congressmen.

Nanking Troops Take Control of Canton

REVOLT of the Cantonese against the Nanking government has collapsed and latest reports say government troops have entered Canton and taken over maintenance of peace and order. There was no opposition and the city was quiet.

Chen Chi-tang, the Canton war lord, deserted his followers and fled to Hongkong on a gunboat. There was a scramble to find Chen's alleged silver hoard, said to amount to many million dollars, but much of it is believed to be deposited in foreign banks.

The Nanking government gains possession of Kwantung province's fleet of more than 300 fighting planes, and also of extensive armaments. These latter include quantities of heavy artillery, field artillery and machine guns, nearly half a million rifles, numbers of anti-aircraft guns, tanks, the southwest's navy, two arsenals and one airplane factory.

Turkey Given Right to Rearm the Dardanelles

EIGHT signatories to the Lausanne post-war treaty have granted to Turkey the right to rearm the Dardanelles, and they, with Turkey, have signed a convention covering the matter. Only Japan made slight reservations because it is no longer a member of the League of Nations.

The convention grants complete liberty to merchant marine passage through the straits in peacetime and wartime, even with Turkey at war, provided the commercial vessels do not assist the fighting powers.

The Russian navy is granted complete freedom in peacetime to leave and enter the Black sea through the straits, but nations outside will be subjected to limitations on passage of fighting ships through the channel.

During wartime belligerents will be prohibited from using the straits unless acting for the league.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By REV. HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST,
Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago
© Western Newspaper Union

Lesson for August 2

PHILIP'S MISSIONARY LABORS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 8:5-40.
GOLDEN TEXT—Therefore they that were scattered abroad went everywhere preaching the word.—Acts 8:4.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Philip Tells the Glad News.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Philip Tells the Glad News.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Pioneering for Jesus.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Gospel Crosses the Frontier.

Evangelism is the work of every follower of Christ, and primarily the work of the layman. This duty cannot be delegated to the church as an organized body or to its official servants.

Philip was a layman, a deacon in the church by office, but an evangelist by the gift and calling of the Holy Spirit. His experience in leading the Ethiopian eunuch to Christ demonstrates that one who is yielded to the Spirit—

I. Will Find Opportunity for Soul Winning (v. 26). Most unexpected places will afford opportunities. Philip was in the midst of a great revival in Samaria when the angel of the Lord sent him to Gaza—a desert place. Who would he meet here? Remember that the great world-evangelist, Dwight L. Moody, was converted in a humble shoe store by the earnest approach of a Sunday school teacher.

II. Will Respond Immediately to the Spirit's Leading (vv. 29, 30). The Spirit said "go." Philip "ran." The fundamental of fundamentals in God's children is obedience. The opportunity, the inquiring soul, the equipped personal worker, all were prepared by God for just that moment. All would have been lost had Philip failed to obey.

III. Will Find That Men and Women Are Ready to Receive the Truth (vv. 28, 31-34).

God prepares souls, and more are willing to be saved than we think. Whether it was through his experience at Jerusalem, his spiritual hunger before he went up, or the reading of the Word, or all these together, the eunuch was ready.

Neighbors, schoolmates, tradespeople, fellow workers—they may present God's opportunity for us.

IV. Will Find That God Honors Men by Using Them to Win Others.

He could "save a man all alone on the top of the Alps," but he doesn't ordinarily do it. Remember it was "the sword of the Lord and of Gideon" that wrought a victory.

The eunuch needed an interpreter of the truth. Philip was God's man.

V. Will Know God's Word (v. 35). We cannot interpret what we do not know. One who is not personally acquainted with the Living Word by regeneration, and the Written Word by diligent study, is not able to help others. Could you begin (as Philip did) at Isaiah 53:7, and lead a man to Christ? If not, should you not begin to study your Bible with such an end in view?

VI. Will "Carry Through" to a Decision (vv. 36, 37).

A salesman may be brilliant, cultured, and persuasive, but what counts is the signature on the dotted line at the bottom of an order. Philip pressed for and obtained a decision.

VII. Will Follow-up His Convert (vv. 36, 37).

Much so-called evangelism fails to go beyond a mere profession—a declaration of faith. The eunuch and Philip both knew that an inward faith declares itself in an outward act—and he was baptized.

VIII. Will Recognize That the Message Is Important, Not the Messenger (v. 39). When the work was done the evangelist was carried away by the Spirit. God's work goes on. His workman we set aside. As an advertising company has well-expressed it: "The purpose of advertising is to impress the product upon the reader's mind, not the medium."

It is a fine testimony to the effectiveness of Philip's ministry that although he was gone his convert went "on his way rejoicing." His faith did not rest on the evangelist nor any human fellowship—he knew God. Let us be sure to win souls to God and not simply to a personal allegiance to us or to a religious organization.

Why not be a Philip? Any man or woman who knows the Lord Jesus Christ as personal Savior can be a winner of souls. It has well been said that all that Philip had was "a love for souls, a knowledge of the Word and a sensitiveness to the leading of the Lord. That is all we need. If every Christian were a Philip the world would be won for Christ in ten years."

Count Your Blessings

He is a wise man who does not grieve for the things which he has not, but rejoices for those which he has.—Ephesians.

Self-Knowledge

Self-reverence, self-knowledge, self-control; these three alone lead life to sovereign power.—Tennyson.

Center of Selfishness

Selfishness is the making a man's self his own center, the beginning and end of all he doth.—John Owen.

Smart Household Linens

Pattern No. 5348

Let us do a bit of "garden-ing." It's linens we're going to beautify, with cotton patch, flowers and flowerpots. This easy applique is sure to enhance a pair of pillow cases, scarf or dainty hand towels. Take colorful scraps, cut them into these simple flower forms, and either turn the edges under and sew them down, or finish them in outline stitch. It's called "Linen-closet Gardening!"

In pattern 5348 you will find a transfer pattern of two motifs 5½ by 15 inches, two motifs 4¾ by 15 inches and the patterns for the applique patches; material requirements; color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches needed. To obtain this pattern, send 15 cents in stamps or coins (coins preferred) to The Sewing Circle Household Arts Dept., 259 W. Fourteenth St., New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

That First Impression
Wise men neither fall in love, nor take a dislike at first sight; but still the first impression is always a great thing even with them.—Spurgeon.

Black Leaf 40
KILLS LICE
JUST A DASH IN FEATHERS... OR SPREAD ON ROOSTS

KILL ALL FLIES
Daisy Fly Killer
DAISY FLY KILLER

Calotabs
TRADE MARK REG.
for biliousness, sour stomach, bilious indigestion, flatu-lence and headache, due to constipation.
10c and 25c at dealers

WONDERFUL FOR THESE SKIN BLEMISHES
PIMPLES, BLACK-HEADS, ITCHING ECZEMA, RASHES
Wonderful, thousands say, how the soothing penetration of CUTICURA Soap and Ointment helps banish ugly skin irritations due to external causes. Wonderful, how this mildly medicated Soap cleanses and soothes—how the Ointment relieves and helps heal! Wonderful, you'll agree, as even the first application aids and comforts. Sold everywhere. Ointment, 5c. Soap, 25c. Write for FREE sample to "Cuticura," Dept. 11, Malden, Mass.

CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

BUY the New Firestone STANDARD TIRE
and SAVE
the Difference

HOW YOU SAVE MONEY—Firestone saves money by careful buying of high grade materials—manufacturing in large volume in the most efficient factories in the world—and delivering to you by the quickest and most economical distribution system. These savings are passed on to car owners.

FIRST LINE QUALITY—The new Firestone Standard Tire is a first quality tire, built of high grade materials.

THE FIRESTONE NAME AND GUARANTEE—Every Firestone Standard Tire bears the Firestone name, your guarantee of greater safety.

GUM-DIPPED CORD BODY—Prevents internal friction and heat, providing greater strength, blowout protection and longer life.

TWO EXTRA LAYERS OF GUM-DIPPED CORDS UNDER THE TREAD—This patented feature binds the tire into one unit of greater strength.

LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE—New scientifically designed tread gives long even wear and thousands of extra miles.

SIZE	PRICE
6.50-20.....	$21.95
7.00-20.....	29.10
7.50-20.....	35.20
30x5.....	21.30

Other Sizes Priced Proportionately Low

A FIRST QUALITY TRUCK TIRE AT A PRICE THAT SAVES YOU MONEY

THE new Firestone Standard Truck and Bus Tire is built in volume production, resulting in big savings which are passed on to truck and bus owners. This new tire is first line quality, built of high grade materials, and is the most dependable tire obtainable at these low prices.

Whatever your trucking or transportation problems, the new Firestone Standard Truck and Bus Tire will give you long, trouble-free mileage, and will save you money.

Go to your nearest Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store or Firestone Dealer and see the new Firestone Standard Truck and Bus Tire. To see it is to buy it!

LEADERS IN THE LOW PRICE FIELD

Firestone Sentinel Tire—of good quality and construction and backed by the Firestone name and guarantee.

Firestone Courier Tire—a good serviceable tire for owners of small cars.

SPARK PLUGS
Hotter spark, better mileage.
58¢ Each 1 Doz $5.80

BATTERIES
Greater starting power. Longer life.
$6.25

SUN GLASSES
In various colors.
10¢ UP

SEAT COVERS
79¢ COUPON
Cushion 51¢ 60¢ & 80¢

BRAKE LINING
Per Set
Lub. Extra
$3.30

AUTO RADIOS
Firestone Super-Warner circuit.
$37.95

DETACHED TWIN TRUMPET
$6.25

AUTO SUPPLIES
Kumhoons—$2.50
Laygo's—$2.50
Baby Socks—$.25
Auto Goggles—25¢
Flare Bells—25¢
Pads—$.25

PICNIC JUGS
1 gal.
98¢

INSECT SCREEN
69¢

HOUSE FANS
$1.25

Listen to the Voice of Firestone—featuring Margaret Speaks, Soprano, with the Firestone Choral Symphony, and William Daly's Orchestra—every Monday night over N. B. C. Nationwide Network

British Royalty

The British royal family does not belong to the family of Hohenzollern and it is connected only by marriage with the former German royal family. George V was very much English, spoke the English language all his life and was very different from his ancestor George I who on his accession could not speak a word of the language.

HEARTBURN FROM OVEREATING?
Hurried or overeating usually causes heartburn. Overcome heartburn and digestive distresses with Miltex, the original milk of magnesia in wafer form. Thin, crunchy, deliciously flavored, pleasant to take. Each wafer equals 4 teaspoonfuls of milk of magnesia. 20c, 35c & 60c sizes at druggists.

HAY FEVER—Free Offer
H-A RELIEF TABLETS until Aug. 15th
Mail this ad. to: H-A Relief—1111 Broadway, New York, N.Y.
Dollar. Otherwise, it's FREE.
THE H-A RELIEF, INC. — MANSFIELD, OHIO

"Jim" Farley Is Square Shooter

Never Has an Alibi for Any Mistakes; U. S. Finances Hard to Comprehend

By EARL GODWIN

WASHINGTON—"Jim" Farley steps out of his job as postmaster general to pay exclusive attention to his job as chairman of the Democratic National committee and the re-election of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

I like Farley. He is an open-faced character and strictly on the level. If he makes a mistake he takes the punishment; and takes it without a whimper. Many men in his position deny they said the thing which has been their undoing. They say they have been "misquoted," or they adopt some other device to shift out of the consequences of their own misdeeds; but Farley stands still and "takes it on the chin." Roosevelt likes him for that.

The administration's opponents have been delivering a pitiless attack on Farley. Sometimes it has been a brutally unfair attack, but as the late Huey Long said personally to him once: "Jim, I like you; and the reason I am attacking you is because when I am in a fight I always throw a rock at the biggest man." There you have the reason why the Republicans and the anti-New Deal editors have been trying to tell Roosevelt to get rid of Farley. . . . but Roosevelt doesn't let the opposition tell him what to do, so Farley merely takes a vacation as Postmaster General and stays with the shock troops during the campaign.

Admires Roosevelt.

Farley has always been a deep admirer of Roosevelt. He has fought the old-line organization New York state Democrats to a finish in Roosevelt's behalf. He is a nominal member of Tammany Hall in New York, but he has led the fight against Tammany for Roosevelt, whom Tammany does not like. A lot of squawking and unfounded editors complain that Farley has Tammanized national politics, but in New York city Tammany wouldn't throw Farley a rope if he was drowning. They would, however, be delighted if they could draw Jim into their ranks so they could use his political skill, but inasmuch as he remains with the progressive Roosevelt on the honest side of government, the Tammany Hall boys look on Farley as someone to be jumped on as soon as he is down—but no sooner!

Farley scored a victory for good government in 1930, when he was elected chairman of the New York State Democratic committee, and by 1932 he had the whole country lined up with enough delegates to nominate Roosevelt. He was at that time not only opposing the Al Smith sentiment and its great element in the party, but he also had to fight the unseen, underground opposition of the old guard Republicans who hated and feared Roosevelt (and for good reason, as it now appears). . . . In that year when Farley went out to Seattle ostensibly to attend an Elks' convention, he started his cross-country trek to nominate Roosevelt. He began to talk Roosevelt at a time when Roosevelt appeared to be a rank amateur in contrast to the Big League Al Smith. He was so successful that his opponents credit him with a victory; but are cowardly enough to ascribe to him pork barrel, dark lantern and illicit methods. I think this aspect of the fight hurts Jim Farley, who, I believe, about as honest a man as ever fought his way to the top in politics.

One wholesale charge against Farley is that he has used the entire administration of government for political purposes, and his accusers back it up with the fact that there are now a huge number of government employees appointed politically and not taken from the civil service "merit" list. The figures covering the number of employees appear to bear this charge out, but the facts are, as I have related several times, that the great emergency required an immediate drafting of several thousand clerks, administrators and specialists, and the civil service could not meet the demand for the simple reason that there were not enough people on their qualified list.

Federal Finances.

It will be hard for the public to get a clear view of government finances this summer. The government's bookkeeping is vast and intricate; difficult to understand. Mix the natural confusion of large figures with the noise of a political campaign, and it will be an exceptional person who can comprehend it all. There is no dispute as to the wisdom of balancing the budget and paying out less than we take in—but it must be remembered that our present deficits in the bookkeeping at the U. S. Treasury are caused solely by the tremendous and generous policies of this administration in providing human and necessary items of relief, payment of the soldiers' bonus, and loss of the processing taxes by the Supreme Court's decision against AAA.

In counting up the appropriations of the session of congress just closed, it is impossible to apportion it off into calendar years and cover many situations not generally understood. For instance, congress appropriates for the Post Office department what looks like a huge expenditure—the public forgets that this sum is practically covered by the postal receipts—cash taken in for stamps at the post office windows.

So, when the orators charge that this last congress appropriated the unheard of sum of $10,300,000,000, don't think it was for one year. It covered at least two fiscal years, and many items were spread farther. The objects which predominate are veterans, relief and unemployment, and assistance to agriculture. Nearest I can come to the amount appropriated for the current fiscal year which began July 1 and ends June 30, 1937, is $6,617,000,000. The foundation stone of the new social security policy is included—a matter of $475,000,000 to start off the fund which eventually will be made up of contributions from employers and employees for old age and unemployment insurance.

The largest item is, of course, relief, $1,400,000,000. This government is committed to the policy of not permitting anyone to starve. Relief expenditures will probably dwindle with the betterment of business, but does anyone expect the existing industrial policies to absorb the slack in unemployment? I'm sure I don't. I think the machine age has perfected mechanical devices to the point where machinery will take the place of more human beings. This means we will have to adopt shorter work days and shorter weeks, and that we must adopt an all-inclusive national policy of cooperative industry so that the army of the unemployed can be put to work in the industries which supply them with their necessities of life.

Unemployment.

We have been promised an end to unemployment on various occasions. The brewers said that beer would end unemployment, that we would raise a billion dollars in taxes and put every jobless man to work if we could have the return of beer. Well, we now have beer, and also unemployment. Then we were promised an end to unemployment with the payment of the bonus. This bonus is a sort of midsummer Christmas. Business is getting those millions now and will continue to get more this summer and fall, and if this unprecedented expenditure does not provide sufficient increase in industry and commerce to furnish jobs for the workers now unemployed, then, in my personal opinion, we have come to the end of waiting for industry to make good.

The next step is a permanent policy of jobs by government enterprise—either conservation work and great public projects—or cooperative industry where the workers make their own goods.

As It Looks.

Political prophets take their reputations in their hands, but there is no harm in reporting the consensus as to how various sections of the country stand right now. "If the election were to be held today," I would say that Roosevelt has more than a mere majority of the popular vote, but that it is so distributed as to make it necessary for him to fight vigorously in some of the large pivotal states. I'd give the Republicans New England—but remember that the lower economic order of the country over is going to vote for Roosevelt for the things he is doing for social justice. John Hamilton's statement that Roosevelt cannot carry six states is childish, as everyone knows. The solid South—11 states—is always for Roosevelt.

New York state was 400,000 to the good for the Democrats a year ago, but the Republicans claim the vote has shifted. Maybe so, but don't bet too heavily on it. Governor Lehman running again is a sure-fire vote-getter for the New Deal. Pennsylvania belongs to the body . . . things are confused there . . . but Republican claims for Illinois based upon the grass roots ebullency are not verified by the younger crowd of newspaper men covering politics, who give Roosevelt the state by 250,000.

Michigan interests me. It went Democratic for Roosevelt, then came back strong G. O. P. for Vandenberg. The Democrats think they can take it by running Murphy for governor—I doubt it. Minnesota is Democratic now. California will go for Roosevelt by half a million; Washington and Oregon are safely Democratic. Idaho will see a fight. It seems Democratic enough to give its electoral vote to Roosevelt, but Bill Borah is out there and he's always a disturber. Oklahoma is Democratic despite the defection of Alfalfa Bill Murray. The Democrats have the nerve to say they can take Kansas from Landon. I wonder. Nebraska appears to be a Republican state, but the chief Republican there is Senator George W. Norris, who is Roosevelt's strongest supporter.

It all adds to this: Roosevelt can win, but his crowd must fight unrelentingly in every pivotal state. © Western Newspaper Union.

LICKING VALLEY COURIER

Traveling Clinic Brings Health to Children

If little Johnny or Mary, living in a remote section of the 1,094 square miles included in the large Los Angeles school district, has a toothache, infected tonsils, bad eyes, or any minor physical ailment, his parents don't worry. For soon the traveling healthmobile, the only one of its kind in America, will be along with its staff of oculist, dentist, and nurse. The unique healthmobile is a part of the medical service furnished the Los Angeles schools, and which penetrates to every little hamlet and community in the vast empire of the school district. The carload of health constantly travels from school to school, filling teeth, taking out tonsils, testing eyes, and caring for children who would otherwise be neglected.

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

JERRY MUSKRAT'S TROUBLES BEGIN

JERRY Muskrat watched Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter start on their journeys. Billy was going to the Big River. Both intended to stay away until they were sure the trapper, who had just begun to make trouble along the Laughing Brook, would be so discouraged that he would take up his traps.

When Jerry had said good-by to Billy Mink and Joe Otter there had been something of wistfulness in his squeaky voice. The fact is, Jerry would have loved to go visiting also. But he knew that it was quite out of the question. In the first place, he is a slow traveler on land, and he felt that on land he would be in even more danger than if he stayed at home, despite those dreadful traps. Then, again, winter would soon come and he must be prepared for it if he would live through it. Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter do not have to prepare for winter, but Jerry does.

"I suppose," he muttered, "my troubles are just beginning."

So Jerry sat on the top of his house and watched Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter out of sight. Then he sighed. Then he sighed again. "I suppose," he muttered, "my troubles are just beginning. These traps Billy Mink told about were set for him, but I know trappers well enough to know that sooner or later there will be some traps set especially for me."

Jerry was quite right. Early the next morning as he was making his breakfast on a lily root he caught sight of some one coming down the Laughing Brook. It wasn't Farmer Brown's Boy. It was a

Convict Faces Gallows

Already serving a life term for the murder of a Los Angeles police sergeant, "Little Phil" Alguin is shown in jail on charges of slaying another man, Frank Rudeen, the same night he killed Detective Sergeant J. J. Fitzgerald in 1923. Brought back from Folsom prison, Alguin faces possible death on the gallows if convicted of the new murder charges.

"Men are not satisfied by merely looking like monkeys," says catty Katie. "So they concoct queer tales."

THE NEW WORD

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

TODAY perhaps you heard a word. You never heard before. Yet think there is no land at hand. For mortals to explore, Behold a continent. Content To leave it still unknown, When you the trail might take And make That land, that word, your own.

Oh, never let the word You heard. Remain a mystery. Right then take down the book And look. Yes, look it up to see. For, there is more to hold Than gold. Another wealth to reach, A fortune for the mind To find— A wealth of speech.

TRY THIS TRICK

By PONJAY HARRAH

Copyright by Public Ledger, Inc.

CATCH THE DICE

Catching the dice is a game that looks easy but proves impossible when people try it, unless they know the secret.

A small cup is held in one hand. The thumb and fingers encircle the cup; between them, they hold a small cube, one of a pair of dice. The second cube is placed upon the first.

The object is to toss each of the dice separately, catching them one by one in the cup, and keeping them there. Thus the fun begins; for after the first cube is unaged, the tossing of the second causes the first to jump out.

The way to do the trick is not to toss the second cube at all. Simply release it. Swoop downward with the cup and catch the last of the dice while it is falling.

WNU Service

ANNABELLE'S ANSWERS

By RAY THOMPSON

DEAR ANNABELLE—IS IT TRUE THAT EVERYTHING COMES TO HIM WHO WAITS? PATIENCE.

DEAR "PATIENCE": EVERYTHING EXCEPT A TAXI ON A RAINY NIGHT! Annabelle.

1-Ton Fish Minat at Birth
The ocean sunfish, which attains a weight of one ton, is no larger than a pinhead when young.

Giant Elephant Killer Pays Penalty

Wally, the giant bull elephant of Fleishacker zoo, San Francisco who gored and trampled his keeper to death, was executed by three policemen with rifles.

POMP

Mr. Willie Adams and two children of Bushon, Ill., spent Tuesday night with Mr. and Mrs. George Adams and family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Hamilton and children, Darrel and Janis K., spent the week end here with Mrs. Hamilton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Doolin and children spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. George Doolin of Lenox and were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Caskey of that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Brown and family of Pleasant Run were calling on Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johnson and Retta Brown here Saturday evening.

Mrs. Prater Caskey and baby Emma Gene and son Stewart returned last week from a week's visit with her mother, Mrs. Jennie K. Caskey of Wilmore.

Mrs. Lafe Elam of War Creek spent a few days last week with her brother-in-law, John Riggsby and family of John's Branch who is seriously ill.

Mrs. Lou Cox of West Liberty who had been visiting her sons here returned to her home last week.

School began here last Wednesday, July 15, with Mrs. Melda Fairchild and Miss Iva Lewis as teachers. Both teachers are very highly recommended and we wish them much success thru out the school year.

Mrs. Ella Adkins who is teaching school at Donahue spent the week end with home folks here.

John Riggsby of John's Branch, who has been ill for some time is not expected to live. His son Jessie, who was in the C. C. C. camp in Indiana, was called to his bedside last week.

Mrs. Wayne Lewis of Wrigley was the dinner guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Cox and family Sunday.

Glenn Johnson and Onyx Lewis had business at Mason City, West Virginia last week.

R. C. Day and children, Virginia and Frank, were in Mt. Sterling one day last week looking after some colts on pasture there.

COLUMBINE

FLAT WOODS

Mildred Brewer of Landsaw was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Robinson.

Stanley Bishop of Zag spent the week end with his aunts, Mrs. T. H. Lewis and Mrs. Less May and family. Mr. and Mrs. Finley Gose and daughter, Janice, were the last Saturday night and Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Cox.

Archie, daughter and daughter, Norma, of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kempf of Lenox were the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bailey visited Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gibson and Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Robinson over the week end.

Uncle Jim, wife of Twenty-six visited friends and relatives at Woodshend last week.

Frank Sowards and Roy Potters are conducting a revival at Carter's school house and are having real success.

UNCLE ZIP

WAR CREEK

School started here Wednesday with David Dennis and Buford Howard as teachers. As they had no drinking water a well is being drilled on the school grounds.

Mrs. Javis Johnson and son, Henry Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson and Virgil and Willie Wright of Spaw Creek attended church here Sunday.

Misses Selma and Alice Elam were week end guests of their brother, Mr. and Mrs. Strauther Elam of Pomp.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith Elam and family had as guests Wednesday evening the following: Mrs. Mamie Tyree and children, Harold, Lola and Mae and Clifton Pelfrey and Glenn Ross of North Fairchild, Ohio. Ice cream and cake were served and every one reported a fine time.

Jean McClure is ill with mumps. Several from this place attended church at Centerville Sunday night. Hurrah for the Courier!

LIBERTY ROAD

James W. Elam of Greear spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Alec Short.

Bascom Elam, C. R. Hale, Kenneth Wheeler, John Lewis and sons, Winfred and Russel were in Mt. Sterling on business one day last week.

Mrs. Kathryn Elam and daughter, Nancy and little daughter Irene of this place, Jean Frangier and Virginia May of West Liberty were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hale visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Zack Ratliff at Woodshend.

Mrs. Dexter Evans and little daughter, Betty Jo, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Evans.

TWENTY-SIX

Miss Kathern Hasty was in Mt. Sterling and Winchester Thursday and Friday on business.

Earl Hasty and Henry Howard were calling on friends at Whitesbranch Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Minnie Bell Lewis of West Va. is spending a few weeks with her grandmother, Mrs. Nettie Lewis.

I. H. Rowland who has been in the Mary Chiles hospital at Mt. Sterling returned home Saturday. He is getting along fine.

Chester Perry of this place and Miss Edith Ward of Dehart were married last week. Rev. Jim Cottle tied the knot. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lenard Ward. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Perry.

Miss Kathern Hasty spent one night last week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis at Index.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Cundiff and Mildred Gevedon spent from Saturday till Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Cundiff's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ross.

EBON

Dorsie Wells and Chester Bolin of Hazard are visiting B. M. Wells and family.

Wilmer Sexton and Art Lafalette are in Cincinnati, Ohio, searching for work.

Misses Willma and Juanita Havens of Bonny visited their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Claude McGuire, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sexton and son, Alvin Lee, of Kellacy, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Sexton.

A. F. McGuire of Mt. Sterling was a business visitor in this community Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Barker and son, Wm. Richard, and Miss Florence Millington, of Ashland and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Long of West Liberty visited at the home of W. B. Barker Sunday.

A good rain visited this community Friday. It was badly needed.

Raymond McGuire went to Middletown, Ohio, last week in search of work.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Wells, Alma, Winifred, and Leon Wells, Virgie Sexton, Eliza Mae Bailey and Doc Goodpastor visited Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brewer last Sunday at Landsaw in Wolfe county.

BROWNIE

LICK BRANCH

Floyd McClain of Ashland was visiting in this community Friday.

Charlie Oliver recently purchased a ford auto.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kimpleton of near West Liberty are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Adkins.

Frankie Barker of Crockett visited last week with Mart and Ira Ison.

Eulas Conley of Lizzie spent last week end with his uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Burns Litteral.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Williams of Ashland are visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Fairchild.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Williams and family of this place visited last week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Williams at Elamton.

Noah and Dewey Keeton of this place have gone to Wisconsin to seek work.

Harold Tyree of War Creek was a pleasant caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Fairchild Sunday.

Our school is getting along nicely with Curtis Elliot as teacher.

Clifford Oliver who was thrown from a mule last week and suffered a broken arm is getting along fine.

Mack Caskey who has been visiting in Ohio returned home last week.

Mrs. Belle Ison is visiting this week with her granddaughter, Mrs. J. J. Johnson near Lenox.

Jim Conley of Crockett visited last week end with his brother, Athel Conley.

Those from Lenox who attended church here Sunday are as follows: Misses Maxie and Marcella Caskey, Loueas Holbrook and Edna Adkins.

J. J. Holbrook of Lenox spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. John Trimble.

Herman Walton of West Liberty and Evert Day of Lenox are operating a saw mill in this community.

The fine rains which have fallen this week are helping the crops to grow.

Fred O'Neal of Lizzie was in this community Saturday. SHAGGY

CROCKETT

W. F. Fannin and wife have been visiting relatives at Portsmouth, Ohio, for the last week.

Ann Skaggs went to Portsmouth, Ohio, to find work last week but failed and came back home.

R. L. Hutchinson and Autie Conley went to Akron, Ohio, last week to find work.

A. J. Roseberry of Enterprise, visited his mother and his brother, C. W. Roseberry, last Thursday and Friday.

J. W. Fannin, C. E. Ferguson, Andy Skaggs and F. G. Hutchinson went to West Liberty last Saturday.

R. H. Ferguson of Jephtha filled his regular appointment here last Saturday and Sunday.

H. D. Lyon of Lucile attended meeting here last Sunday.

S. V. Conley and wife of Skaggs visited their daughter, Mrs. H. R. Cox, last Saturday and Sunday.

Ruby Conley and family of Morehead visited Lewis Conley and family last Saturday and Sunday.

Newt Day of Lenox was here last Sunday.

Doc Riggsby and family of Skaggs visited Peter Conley last Sunday.

MOUNTAIN BOY

OAK HILL

Dry weather still continues in this community and crops are nearly burned up.

Rev. Lloyd Barbow preached at Oak Hill Saturday night and Sunday to large crowds.

Misses Lena, Opal and Alva Collins and Mr. Roy Collins visited their sister and aunt at Paragon over the week end.

Rev. Barnes Castle filled his regular appointment here last Sunday.

Dr. Murray was called one night last week to see Mrs. Willis Callahan who is very sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Easterling of Middletown, Ohio, were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Vergie Swim of Middletown, Ohio, are visiting their parents and other relatives here.

Mrs. Fronia Easterling who had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. D. Fultz of Ashland returned home last week.

Miss Dora McCallister of Christy is visiting her sister and other relatives here this week.

Much success to the Courier and its many readers. RED

CANNEL CITY NEWS

Mrs. Edna Lykins Hopkins and three children of Paris and Mrs. Frances Lykins Davis and son of Lexington were the guests of their aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Whiteaker, Thursday.

Mitchell and Charles Edwin Elam are visiting relatives in Middletown, and Dayton, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Fowler of Irvine have been recent guests of Mrs. Fowler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Carter. They were accompanied by Ruth Evelyn Jones and Merle Fowler, Jr.

Mrs. A. H. Anderson and daughter of Combs have visited for the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stamper and sister, Mrs. D. P. Peyton.

Miss Sallie Minor and Master William Minor are spending the summer in Virginia.

Miss Pauline Spencer who is employed at Frankfort was at home for the corner stone laying.

Miss Maxine Zornes has returned to Ashland after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Zornes.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Leslie had as luncheon guests for the corner stone laying: Mrs. W. T. Congleton, Mrs. A. F. Graver, and Miss Willie Mae Watson of Lexington; Mrs. Margaret Watson of Los Angeles, Cal. and Robert Snowden of Jackson.

Miss Wilma Faulkner has returned from a visit with her uncle, F. E. Faulkner and family of Lexington.

Miss Faulkner saw the big "Barney" and Bailey and Ringling Bros' circus.

Miss Nora Benton of Hazard is visiting her brother, J. E. Benton and family.

Chalmer Benton who is employed at Wayland spent the week end with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davis have had as their guests their daughters, Mrs. Winfred Carpenter of West Liberty and Mrs. Ova Ratliff of Woodshend.

IRENE WATSON

FLORESS

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Templeton and little daughter, Glenna, visited the past week with friends and relatives here.

Rev. R. H. Nickell and son, Stollard, and Ledford Bolin of Payton were the Saturday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Elam and family.

W. J. Elam left here Sunday for Braidwood, Ill., to seek for work. Mrs. Elam and son, Charles, were already there.

Mrs. Earnie Bolin visited Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Bolin at Big Sandy the past week.

Clara Williams of Elamton attended church here on Sunday.

Mrs. Minnie Nickell was the Saturday night guest of Tom Nickell and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Willaby Nickell who had been living in Ohio moved back here last week.

Mrs. D. H. Dawson who has been confined to her room for some time is reported no better.

LONESOME PAL

EDEL

There will be a picnic of the Presbyterian Sunday School here held at Pine Grove on August 30. Everybody cordially invited to participate.

Mrs. Dewey Alexander of Middletown, Ohio, has moved here temporarily to take care of her mother, Mrs. Dora Henry who has been very sick for quite awhile.

Dr. Jas. S. Maxwell and family have moved to Fairmont, W. Va. We regret to lose them but wish them well in their new home.

Mrs. Pearl Neff was in West Liberty Monday on business.

Born July 26 to Mrs. Robert Lawson, a girl—Ruth Jean.

Aunt Joan Stamper, who has been very sick for some time is improving and spent the day Friday with her son, Leonard Stamper at Grassy Creek.

Bill Dennis' family are fixing to go to Middletown, Ohio, to make their future home. Mr. Dennis has employment there.

Mrs. Rosa Murphy and daughter, Mrs. Clayton Havens and Mrs. Jack Hamilton of Bonny spent Monday with Mrs. Lola Hamilton at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. George Long of Frenchburg were the last week end guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. Ada Evans at this place.

Mrs. John Dennis of West Middletown, Ohio, and her daughter, Audrey and two sons of Mrs. Dennis, Elmo and Edward, were here recently visiting Mrs. Dennis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Helton and other relatives.

Exposition Proving Mecca to Traveling America

Visitors to the Great Lakes Exposition on Cleveland's lake front are enthusiastic about the way the original purpose of the Exposition—the demonstration of the industries which have made the prosperity of the Great Lakes Basin—has been carried out. It is a graphic picture of the reasons for the country's wealth.

These visitors to date have numbered nearly one million persons and each day the industrial and commercial exhibits are attracting increasing attention.

Iron and steel are recognized as the basis of the industry of the manufacturing centers of the middle west, and the great producers of iron and steel have combined, in intensely interesting exhibits, to show not only the extent to which manufacturing processes have been carried but also to demonstrate in striking fashion the historical beginnings of the industry. From a graphic portrayal of the production and shipment of the ore, coal and limestone used in blast furnaces and steel mills to moving models of giant machines of manufacture, the exposition visitor is able to study the industry to a point where books could not take him.

There are also interesting exhibits of many articles of manufacture, from machine tools and steel house frames to office and household equipment. Various lines of food products are shown, and there are automobiles, farm tractors, heating and air conditioning units, printing presses and almost everything which helps to make up the equipment for modern living.

But the big exposition is not entirely a school, even though the lessons it teaches are of vital interest to the many thousands who pass through the grounds each day. The location, on the shores of Lake Erie, tives in and around town. Marion Hamilton and Douglass Williams had business in West Liberty Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Jane Oldfield of Mize who has been in the hospital at Frenchburg for several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Murphy here, before returning home.

Miss Lucille Honaker of Pomeroyton has been here for several days visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Honaker. TEMPEST

LICKING RIVER

Mrs. Leona Joseph of Dayton, Ohio, visited her mother, Mrs. Sallie Bayes, a few days last week.

Miss Mary Mays is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. John Cassidy of Leisure.

Mrs. Sallie Bays and daughter, Mrs. Leona Joseph, had an all day quilting Thursday. Those present were: Mrs. Ida Lewis, Mrs. Hattie Henry, Mrs. Dora Cassidy, Mrs. Myrt Lewis, Mrs. Velta Perry, Mrs. Maude Lewis, Mrs. Eva Lewis, Mrs. Ollie Henry, Mrs. Leona Joseph, Mrs. Sallie Bays, and Misses Anna and Joyce Henry, Mary Mays, Ruby and Ruth Henry, Clara Lewis, Jenna Vee and Norma Lee Henry, Lois Perry, Frank Bays and Dan Lewis. A bountiful dinner was served and also plenty of delicious candy in the afternoon.

Uncle Edd Bays was the Wednesday evening guest of Mrs. Rhoda Bays of Yocum.

Mrs. Ollie Henry and little son of Michigan spent Thursday night with her father, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lewis.

Several from this place attended the burial of Mrs. Marion Davis of West Liberty, Friday.

Victor McKenzie lost a fine mule one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Day spent Sunday with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Henry and family of Malone. BLUE EYES

DEHART

The drouth is broke at last in this section of the country. Late crops are looking fine.

Arthur Ross, who has been working in Ohio, returned home last Wednesday.

J. E. Robbins and wife and Rev. Jim Cottle and wife visited John Riggsby at Pomp Saturday.

School opened here the 15th of July with Miss Olive Fannin as teacher.

Elias Debusk and family moved last week to Ezel to make their future home.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. L. DeHaven, July 10, a fine eight pound boy—Kenneth.

The wedding bells have been ringing around Dehart the last few weeks. Carl Ratliff son of Mrs. A. Robbins and Opal DeHaven daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. DeHaven were married July 5 by Rev. Jim Cottle. The young couple thinking they were quietly married were surprised late in the evening by hearing all kinds of noises such as bells ringing, horns blowing and yelling. We wish them much joy thru life.

Chester Perry of Twenty-Six, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Perry, and Miss Edith Ward of Dehart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Ward, were married July 23 in the presence of a few close friends and relatives. After the wedding, the bride's mother served a wonderful, fine, dinner to the crowd. Later in the afternoon the bride and groom and Misses Anna and Lula Perry, Iven Fugett, Thurman Ward, Wendall Crouch and Arnold Hall went to Mr. Perry's, where the new bride was gladly welcomed by the proud Mr. and Mrs. Perry. There a beautiful supper was waiting. A large crowd gathered for the charivari. The crowd was treated to plenty of candy. We wish the young couple much joy and success thru life. COWBOY

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Blair and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Blair and their children took a ten days trip thru Ohio and Ill., returning Saturday. They visited Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lewis, Jamestown, O., also Mr. and Mrs. Till Lewis at Sibley, Illinois. They visited a number of places of interest in Chicago. In Indianapolis they visited the beautiful Cade Tabernacle which seats ten thousand people and has a choir of fourteen hundred voices. They had a very pleasant trip and report that the farmers expect a half crop.

Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Fannin were happily surprised Sunday afternoon by a visit from their sister, Mrs. O. P. Carr and daughter, Mable, of Morehead; cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prater and children, Iris and Samuel, of Carter county and cousin Herbert Haley of Washington, D. C. The relatives spent the night and Monday and the visit was shortened by a call announcing the death of their uncle, Dial Prater of Carter county.

Joe Caull of Hazel Green spent the week end with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hahn east of town.

King Henry the Eighth, a colorful character at the Shakespearean Globe Theatre at the Great Lakes Exposition, Cleveland, waves a greeting to his friends while walking in the theatre gardens.

makes a perfect setting for a play-ground, and there have been provided many amusements including the marine theater with aquatic acts, a most unusual horticultural display, the Streets of the World with an unusually beautiful grouping of Old World architecture and groupings of the modern to the Exposition picnic grounds.

